Storms Continue To Plague Local Area

Wind, Lightning Hits Property, Uproot Trees In .98-Inch Rainfall

One-day rain, wind and electrical storms plagued Quad-City area residents this week coming on the heels of the deluge of the Fourth of July holiday weekend.

The weather bureau predicted more of the same, forecasting showers and thunder storms this afternoon, tonight and Friday, with cooler temperatures and a chance of rain in sight for Saturday.

Electrical storms accompanied by winds of up to gale and tornado force uprooted trees, broke tree limbs, felled power lines and damaged some buildings and automobiles early today and Tuesday evening.

The storm during the night was general, with winds estimated up to 60 miles per hour. A brief storm Tuesday evening was centered in the Pontoon Beach area, while light showers occurred elsewhere.

Rain, Rain, Go Away
Another .98 inches of rain was measured at the gauge at the Chain of Rocks canal locks at 8 a.m. today, continuing to soak the already soggy yards and fields. It increased the total for the month so far to 6.57 inches, more than twice the normal amount of 3.26 for the entire month. Similar heavy rains hit the area exactly a year ago.

Damage today was reported throughout the area, though only one traffic accident occurred on rain-soaked roads, according to Quad-City, Madison county and state police.

Street department crews were busy today clearing the debris.

Power Disrupted
A feeder line from the Kate street substation was knocked out, disrupting service to 500 to 600 customers for most of an hour, an Illinois Power Co. spokesman reported.

In addition, he said, power company repair crews were kept busy throughout the night restoring service to individual lines knocked down by falling trees or tree limbs. Most service had been restored by mid-morning today.

From 200 to 300 individual lines were out at one time or another, the power company said. Lightning also struck two transformers in the 2700 block between Grand avenue and Madison avenue. Repairs to this section took about an hour.

Bricks fell from the top section.

Rising Lake Isolates 15 Bend Rd. Families

About 15 families, some of them living in permanent homes and others occupying lakeside club houses, were isolated today near the end of Layton road by the rising level of Horseshoe Lake.

Layton road, which extends from Bend road to Horseshoe Lake Road and Glen club, is covered in places by two to three feet of water.

Residents said they have complained to the East Side Levee and Sanitary district of the high lake level. Levee officials have reported meanwhile that the lake rose about a foot and a half during last night and early this morning as the result of nearly an additional inch of rainfall.

Madison School Board To Follow U. S. Court Ruling

The Madison school district will follow the ruling of the federal court in its policy of assigning teachers to the various schools in the district, according to Chester McManaway, president of the board of education.

He commented that board members and school officials believe that they are in compliance with the law in face of a suit filed Monday by the Justice Department in U. S. district court in Springfield seeking an end to teacher assignments along racial lines.

Summoned to a hearing set for next Monday in Springfield before U. S. District Judge Robert Morgan of Peoria were McManaway, School Supt. Raymond Dragich, and members of the board—Old Blumentstock, John Belkoff, Frank Derner, Harold T. Fisk, William Vavra and William Schreiber. They plan to appear with school Atty. John Gilchrist.

Basis of Race
According to the Justice Department, "with few exceptions, white faculty and staff members have been assigned on the basis of their race to schools attended only, or almost entirely, by white students."

The government said the district has two predominantly all-Negro grade schools, two predominantly white grade schools and a predominantly white junior high school, and that the teachers in each school are assigned on the basis of race.

McManaway pointed out that the student makeup at each of the schools is not an issue.

The Justice Department claims the district is in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, but McManaway argues that it would be a violation of the civil rights of teachers, both Negro and white, to force transfers upon them.

Will Follow Order
"But if we get this court order, we'll have to do it," the board president said. "It then will be up to the teachers to comply."

Madison Budget Cut by $274,242

$1,670,748 Total Shows Drop in Site, Bridge Costs; Others Raised

The Madison city council adopted a budget totaling $1,670,748, a decrease of $274,242 from that of the 1968-69 fiscal year, during a meeting Tuesday night.

Principal reasons for the cuts were a reduction of $250,000 for industrial site development, from $14 million to $11.5 million, and elimination of a $100,000 item for Chain of Rocks Bridge painting and deck repairs.

Appropriations for general corporate purposes, however, were increased by $67,048 up to $563,955. The increase reflected the general rise in costs plus salary increases of elected officials and the public librarian, Edward J. Miller, city comptroller, said.

There was no increase in salaries of general employees, who last year received across-the-board pay hikes of $100 a month.

Increases for Officials
The salary of Mayor Stephen Maerz was raised by $3,100 to $90,000 a year, and aldermanic pay went up $450 to a total of $15,000.

Aldermen beginning new terms are receiving an increase of $25 per meeting, up to $50, while holdover members "will receive no increase."

City Plans $300 License Fee for Local Gun Dealers

A new law establishing a $300 annual license fee for individuals or businesses engaged in the sale of small firearms was placed on first reading Monday night by Granite City council members.

The proposed law pertains to sale of firearms that can be concealed on a person, and it would apply to gun stores, hardware stores and sporting goods shops selling guns as well as any person selling such weapons.

Several aldermen said they knew of individuals engaged in such business and that the weapons are sold indiscriminately. One such weapon that was used to kill a man in East St. Louis was purchased here, Alderman Green stated.

Immediate adoption of the ordinance was proposed by Alderman Parmley, chairman of the Ordinance committee, but following a debate, the vote was 9-0-6, an insufficient number for suspension of rules. The bill was placed on first reading by the same 9-0-6 vote.

Favoring the licensing ordinance were Whittier, Baschick, Boyd, Dallas, Whittier, Parmley, Robertson, Poulos and Greer. Opposed were Nunn, Rutledge, Daves, Jarrett, Morlen and Boker. Alderman Schuler, who is on vacation, was absent.

In the discussion, City Atty. Scroggins pointed out the law was based on a similar ordinance in the city of Chicago, and when asked if it would pertain to an individual selling one gun in a private transaction, the attorney said each individual case would have to be decided by the court.

Alderman Boker remarked he did not think there were that many difficulties in Granite City to have to penalize hardware stores, Robertson replied he felt the law would be for the safety of Granite City.

"We have gun salesmen who sell to people of St. Louis and East St. Louis and this brings undesirable to our community. Give a man a gun and he'll use it," Robertson added. Whittier questioned the amount of the license, saying it appeared the law was being sought as a revenue measure rather than a control measure. He said Scroggins says $300 had been included.

The attorney said the amount had been specified by an alderman who had requested the licensing ordinance be prepared. Robertson added that the amount was not excessive.

Seek U. S. 'Disaster' Aid For Dobrey Slough Relief

A plea that the Dobrey Slough area of Nameoki township be listed as a disaster area, thus clearing the way for an immediate federal aid grant to build drainage facilities, was to be presented to Illinois Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie in Springfield this afternoon.

The request was to be made by William "Mike" Ebersold, of Venice, Madison county yesterday.

Member of the East Side Levee and Sanitary district, who initiated efforts to set up an immediate meeting concerning such a plan with the governor of Venice, Madison county yesterday.

Ebersold said he intends to outline the critical high water problem in the Dobrey Slough area and to ask the governor to declare it a disaster area, a procedure necessary to obtain emergency aid funds at the federal level.

The office of Gov. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) assured him in telephone conversation from Washington that a federal grant would be available within "a couple of weeks" if the area was listed as a disaster area by the governor, Ebersold said.

The levee board member said he also talked with Col. Edwin R. Decker, district engineer of the U. S. Army Engineers at St. Louis. "Col. Decker said he would be ready to serve on a moment's notice as coordinator of the project to install facilities to relieve the area," Ebersold said.

Amount Not Set

Amount of a grant or determination of the agency that would administer flood relief for the area has not been discussed, he added.

He said he decided on the action after the severe rainstorm early this week intensified the high water problem in the New Haven subdivision along Angela drive and spread Dobrey slough into a vast lake that also prevents drainage of stormwater from streets in the Lynch and Vesel avenues area of Cloverview.

Meanwhile, the Madison county board of health has moved additional pumps into the New Haven area yesterday and had three pumps operating yesterday afternoon. One pump is operated by A. H. Seebold Co. that Ebersold hired to begin pumping operations a week ago, three days before the rainstorm hit the area.

Pumped Into Lake
Water is being pumped from the slough into the stormwater line along Maryville road through which it is carried into a Nameoki ditch which begins at Primrose avenue and d'Amos avenue behind the Nameoki Methodist Church on Pontoon road.

Granite City moved two pumps into the Lynch area yesterday in an effort to further relieve that area by pumping the water to a line on the south side of Pontoon road that also empties into Nameoki ditch.

Free Typhoid Inoculations Here on Voluntary Basis

Typhoid shots will be available to all Quad-Cityans on a voluntary basis at a special immunization clinic Saturday morning from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. in St. Elizabeth Hospital's Tri-Cor building, 21st street and Madison avenue.

The clinic, arranged by Mayor Partney, who plans to go to Springfield tomorrow to get the serum from the State Department of Public Health, will be conducted by the Tri-City Medical Society and the hospital staff.

There will be no charge for the inoculations, and Mayor Partney said Wednesday the clinic will be open to all Quad-Cityans who feel they might need the series of three shots.

10th Sewer Break Found Yesterday

The latest break occurred as the city was taking steps to prevent breaks at several other suspected locations. It is hoped the suspected lines can be sealed internally to prevent washouts and collapses at joints.

This week's break occurred, along Fehling road just a few hundred feet north and east of a break that occurred two months ago in the 3200 block. This time, the collapse is at a manhole in a field rather than in a householder's yard.

A pump and pipe were moved in immediately to carry sanitary sewage around the break. It was during Monday night's council session that bills totaling $54,333 for repairs to the earlier Fehling road sewer line collapse were paid.

Mayor Partney said this week there are three other locations of possible sewer breaks—at Terrace lane and Clark avenue, in the 1900 block of Linden blvd. and in the vicinity of 66 Oaklawn drive.

Shopping Center Planned At St. Clair, Maryville rd.

A neighborhood type shopping center is to be developed on a 10-acre tract at Maryville road and St. Clair avenue to serve a fast-growing area of Granite City.

The Shamrock shopping center plan was presented Monday night to the Granite City council and was referred to the City Plan Commission.

Ralph Morris of Morris Realty Co. told the Press-Record at least 10 stores and shops, including a grocery, will be located in the center along with such service shops as a laundromat, dry cleaning establishment and others.

"We have arrangements for a Phillips Service station to be placed on the northeast corner of the tract and now are in the process of obtaining other leases," Morris said.

He added that the proposed shopping center would be convenient and well located close to Parkway school and Worthen Park which are along Maryville road.

12 Scouts, Explorers Leave for Jamboree

One of the highest goals for Boy Scouts and Explorers, attendance at a jamboree, is being achieved this month by 12 Quad-City youths of the Uniwalk scout district, Cahokia Mound Council.

The 12 left by train Tuesday morning from Alton, bound for Chicago, where they transferred to an all-jamboree train headed west.

The seventh national jamboree will take place July 16-22 at Farragut State Park in Idaho, where they will be in the nearby state of Washington.

In conjunction with the week of outdoor living and skill training, the teenagers will participate in extensive sightseeing before and after the jamboree. Much of the tour will be in the nearby state of Washington.

See British Columbia

Plans include visits to Mount Rainier, Backbone Ridge and Box Canyon. Aboard the "Princess Marguerite," the scouts and explorers will sail through Puget Sound to Victoria, British Columbia, for a tour of such sights as the Parliament Building.

Arrival in Idaho is scheduled for this Sunday. The jamboree itself will be highlighted by a "skitarama," where scouting know-how will be exchanged by scouts from all parts of the nation and some foreign scouts.

Beauvoir, Heritage of U.S.

"The friendships that will develop are likely to be lasting. The boys not only will be increasing their scouting knowledge but also gaining a deep sense of pride in their country and in its scenic beauty," Parrish commented prior to Tuesday's departure.

The final day of the jamboree will include presentation of a colorful show for the public and scouting officials. It will emphasize the heritage and history of the United States.

Quad-Cityans making the trip include Carl Earls and Craig Maer, both of Explorer Post Six of Concordia Lutheran Church, John Tarpoof of Niedringhaus school PTA Post 12 and Dale Miller of Granite City Steel Management Club Post 94.

Scouts in the group are Kevin Menke, Troop Eight, United Presbyterian Church; Danny Greene, Troop Nine, Kirkpatrick Homes (Granite City Housing Authority); Craig Tarpoof, Steve Miller and Monte Lyons, all of Troop 15, Fraternal Order of Eagles; Jon Gardner and Terrence Rupert, both of Troop 45, Dunbar school PTA; and Duane Parrish, Troop 99, Central Christian Church.

Rollin Henn, council president, and Robert Winschief, Illinois district executive, will leave here tomorrow by plane with the St. Louis jamboree delegation.

III. Conservation Dept. Seen as Not Eager for Lake

Lester Thiele, 1509 St. Clair avenue, an opponent of Horseshoe Lake park legislation which passed the Illinois House and Senate this year, yesterday cited a letter to him from State Senator Merrill Otteveen questioning Illinois Conservation Department interest in the park project.

"I, too, think that $2 million would be an exorbitant price and that it would be just a beginning, for development costs would be tremendous," Thiele quoted Otteveen, who served as floor leader for Senate consideration of the proposed state park and wildlife refuge.

"The Department of Conservation is not anxious to get it as a project, for they feel it would be very expensive and they have enough problems now to keep them humble and out of trouble."

"Also, I learned that there are people with selfish interest promoting the project," the senator's letter related.

"Dr. John Galleus of the Division of Waterways testified that Horseshoe Lake would become a part of the hillside drainage plan within a couple of years, and that it was silly to go ahead with state park plans, and in fact, he would be obliged to inform the governor so that it didn't go ahead."

"Ralph Smith (House speaker), present, asked that the bill be run through, anyway, letting the governor in the end, straighten it out, Ralph obviously wanting the publicity," the senator was quoted as commenting.

"One other thing bothered me in the total viewpoint. That confounded Mayor Daley of Chicago got so much from the state that, in the end, I was almost ready to say, 'Okay, if you get all that, I do deserve a little for my own district.' What a rotten compromise, and we downstaters are bailing out that rascal," the letter concluded.

Chaplain Jas. Townsend To Speak at Church

Chaplain James Townsend will be guest speaker at both morning services Sunday, July 13, at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

A graduate of McKendree College and Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Chaplain Townsend has served as a chaplain for 13 years. He is a member of the Northern New York Conference of United Methodist Churches, and has just returned from a year-long tour of duty in Da Nang, Vietnam. The church pastor, Rev. Jesse Roberts, will preach at the evening service.

Puss In Boots to be Presented at SIU-SW

Two Granite Cityans will have parts in the dramatization of a fairy tale, "Puss in Boots," to be presented July 16-19 by the University Theater at SIU-SW campus. Mrs. Beverly Scroggins will appear as a chorewoman and Tom Ray as a horse.

Curtain time for the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday performances will be 2:30 p.m. and on Saturday there will be three shows at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m., according to Leslie Branham, assistant professor of theater, who is both director and designer of the production.

Tickets for the play are free but admission is by ticket. Reservations can be made by calling Marilyn McKee at 618-802-2771.

MORE ABOUT

they noted the Nameoki storm water drainage ditch was not full. It was then that the decision was made to secure pumps to try to lower Doherty slough.

All Line Filled
During the 4.52-inch downpour of Sunday night and Monday morning, all lines were filled to capacity and drainage ditches were running full. There was a fear that Horseshoe Lake, which is over its banks and flooding farmers' fields would backup into the city drainage ditches.

The heavy rains overtaxed the drainage facilities in operation at the present time and in a number of instances, it was explained, some areas could not drain because of the overflow. "When a line emptying into the ditch is under water at the ditch, the rush of water will not permit the submerged line to drain properly," the engineer explained.

He added that he had observed the ditch at 4 p.m. Monday and they were going to capacity or near-capacity flow at that time. "In some areas, it's just a matter of taking time for the water to drain off," he explained.

The Lynch-Veseli problem, he added, is being aggravated by Doherty slough. Several residents commented that a land-fill operation has been going on at the slough for the past several years and now the water spreads out more "reaching into our yards and lapping at our homes."

The mayor pointed out the Cloverview subdivision is in a low area with poor drainage and that it would be impossible to switch the flow of surface water to the already overtaxed sanitary sewer lines in which breaks are occurring because of the infiltration of underground water.

A member of the delegation, Virgil Phipps, called for any possible measures to drain the area. Alderman Parnley said much of the Seventh Ward storm water passes through Sixth Ward which he represents and that he had three feet of water in his basement. "We did have the master sewer plan that wasn't approved."

Another member of the delegation said the Cloverview area was getting not only a flow of the city's surface water, but that it also was running in from the county area. "We should be able to do something about that," he commented.

Severs Backing Up
Seventh Ward Alderman Daves in an appeal to the council for action pointed out the sewers are pushing water into the homes. "The water hasn't drained off a bit. It's coming up through toilets, and right now Street Street Ward is out in the area pumping out basements along Boyle avenue."

"The city may have to buy more pumps. We've got to do something. Maybe we can get large pumps from the Army Depot," Whitmer earlier had recommended borrowing pumps from the depot.

Daves contended the new Village Apartment area was causing the drainage problem in Cloverview.

The engineer pointed out there was a culvert under Ponton road and that the water maintained the same level on both sides of the road. "You've got flat land with the ditch and drainage lines at the level. Water will seek its level and when there's too much rain, there's a problem."

"Who's authorizing those building permits?" one member of the delegation asked. "Parnley replied that during the past four years, the city engineer has kept close watch on all housing and apartment developments with an eye on drainage as well as streets and other facilities. "Before that, not much of anything was done," he added.

Answer Years Away
Daves said the area's only answer will be the Hillside Drainage proposal, which is years away. He called for immediate steps by securing pumps and starting right away to pump water out of areas Spalding, Lynch and Boyle avenue area.

It was 9:35 p.m. when the motion was made and approved to try to start the pumping immediately. The city engineer followed to phone for arrangements, and the delegation departed.

In other actions for solving drainage problems, Mayor Parnley called for the street department to clean out a ditch along the city-leased property of American Steel Foundries south of Niedringhaus avenue to prevent water from running off the higher ground into basements of homes.

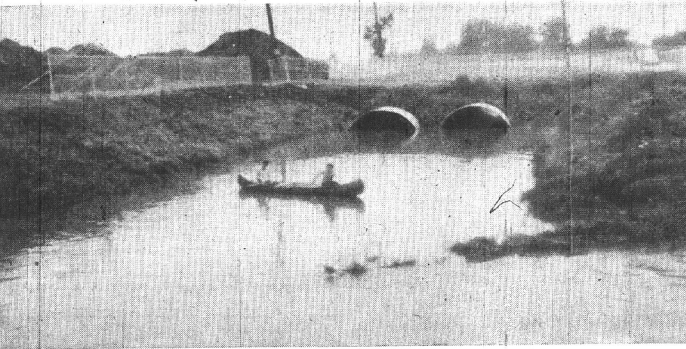

Alderman Morlen asked for steps to be taken to provide drainage in the 2000 block Palmer avenue where basements had taken water as well as Edna street.

MORE ABOUT

Seek 'Disaster'

Haven and Cloverview areas, most of the damage recovered today from the 4.52-inch rain-fall last Sunday night and Monday morning. The heavy rain, the most severe since 1896, flooded streets, basements and homes and caused damage that will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Flooding Eases
Flood conditions in the Quad-City area began easing late Monday afternoon when more rain which had been predicted to continue into Tuesday failed to materialize. Only a little rain fell Tuesday evening.

Inundated streets drained rapidly in most sections of the area, and were clear by late Monday night. But in several areas where there are no sewers or the lines were still overtaxed, water stood from curb to curb 24 hours after the rains stopped.

This was particularly true in the area of the Lynch avenue in the vicinity of Veseli, Spalding and Stearns avenues and was attributed to the fact that Doherty slough had spread far out of its banks and engulfed much of the 2600 and 2500 blocks of Angela drive.

The slough also was backed up eastward into a vast field of water, covering the area into which stormwater from the Lynch avenue area normally drains. Drainage engineers said the water standing in Lynch avenue, Veseli avenue and other areas of that neighborhood would not drain until the level of Doherty Slough was lowered.

Pumps Run Constantly
The heavy rains Sunday night and Monday morning sent Doherty Slough water over Angela drive and into fields and yards around the high-cost brick homes of the subdivision, filling the street southward for several hundred yards. Area residents said water seepage into their basements increased to the point that sump pumps ran constantly.

Even before last Sunday's storm hit, efforts to lower the waters of Doherty slough were renewed by William "Mike" Ebersoldt, Madison county member of the East Side Levee and Sanitary district board. Ebersoldt employed A. H. Seebold Co. to pump water from the slough down Hemlock avenue into the Maryville road sewer which carries the water to the Doherty slough and thence to Horseshoe Lake.

Seebold began pumping operations last Thursday and before the heavy storm Sunday night the level of Doherty slough had dropped four inches, according to Ebersoldt. The 4.54-inch rain Sunday night and Monday morning wiped out all that had been accumulated and snarled Doherty Slough over many additional acres of land.

Pumping operations were halted briefly Monday afternoon when Ebersoldt described as a misunderstanding by residents in the area of Hemlock street, Lynch avenue and other streets in that area, Ebersoldt said occupants in the area mistakenly believed that the pumping was causing the water to rise in their areas. He said he pointed out that the water around their homes could not drain until Doherty Slough was lowered and that pumping work was then resumed.

Water Damages Motors
Many thousands of dollars in damage was caused to electric motors, equipment and merchandise in basements of stores, shops and business firms. Tavern owners particularly suffered damage to basement motors that operate beer coolers, refrigerators and air conditioning units. Heavy losses from flooding were reported at the F. W. Woolworth Co. and P. N. Hirsch Co. stores on 19th street and Edison avenues.

Motor repair firms were swamped with calls and repair work. One businessman reported he called for repairs on an air conditioner motor and was told he would have to wait two days before a repairman could get to it.

While no accurate estimate is available, an extensive survey of damage to household furnishings, appliances and personal belongings was substantiated by hundreds of reports of basements filled with water from two feet deep to as high as the first floor level. Many persons reported loss of television sets, radios and other appliances because of the water which ruined wiring and motors.

Severely Damaged
Frank Damo, operator of a sewer cleaning business, said he was swamped with calls Monday afternoon and night and that he and a helper pumped out 12 basements Monday night before his overtaxed equipment broke down.

Damo said he was called to jobs in houses where there "was from two to five feet of water" in basement. He said most of the average pumping job to the householder was about $30.

"Most of the cleanup work was done Monday night because my calls slackened off to nothing on Tuesday," Damo said. As the rains stopped and flooded waters began receding, householders carried water-soaked furnishings into back yards to dry them out and began the task of cleaning mud and silt off basement floors and walls.

Streets were littered with small limbs and debris left by the receding flood waters. In State Park Place, the area's hardest hit section, about 300 homes were filled with water to the floor level and about 800 more were involved to a minor extent with yards and roads under water.

Canteen Creek Overflows
Flooding of State Park Place, most of which lies in Nameoki township and part in Calhoun township of St. Clair county, was attributed mainly to overflow of Canteen creek which carries heavy flows of drainage from the bluff areas to the east. The overflow also caused state highway officials to close off part of U. S. Highway 40 which runs through State Park Place near the Fairmont Race track.

Some persons were evacuated from their homes in St. Clair county Civilian Defense Boats and Red Cross workers moved into the area as the waters began to drop late Monday afternoon. Refugees from the most badly flooded homes were housed in the State Park Place Community Center where the East Side Health District administered typhoid immunization shots Tuesday.

50 Youth to Compete In Sectional Contest

Close to 50 youthful athletes from the Quad-Cities will travel Saturday to West junior high school in Alton, site of the 1969 "Sectional Junior Sports Jam-boree." The event is cosponsored annually by regional Jaycee groups and the Illinois Youth Commission for youngsters from several area communities.

The contestants, ages 12 through 15 years, qualified for the sectional competition by winning first place awards in local jamborees, including those held in Granite City on May 22 and at Venice grade school on June 7. About 35 will participate from Granite City and 15 from the Madison-Venice area.

Travel arrangements were completed earlier this week by Earl Warnhoff, meet co-chairman for the Granite City Jaycees, who said the children will be transported by private autos. Registration at the Alton school's athletic field is set for 9 a.m., with contests to get under way promptly at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Competition is divided into three age categories—midget division, 10-11 years; juniors, 12-13; and intermediate, 14-15. Both boys and girls compete in 18 field events, such as high jump, long jump and baseball throw, and in 23 running events, including 50, 75, 100 and 200-yard dashes and 220, 440 and 880-yard relay races.

Winners in the sectional meet are then eligible to take part in the Illinois Jaycees-IYC state-wide track and field jamboree, slated to take place this year in Granite City on Aug. 7, 8 and 9.

Con-Con Filing Period Opens; 6 From 53rd File

Six candidates for nomination as delegates to the Illinois Constitutional Convention from the 53rd Senatorial district filed nominating petitions in Springfield Monday, opening day of the five-day filing period. Filing will continue through Friday at the office of Secretary of State Paul Powell.

A total of 320 candidates from all 58 Illinois senatorial districts filed petitions on the first filing day which opened with a controversy that developed when 40 candidates who waited in line all night became angry because they said petitions sent in by mail were taken into Powell's office at midnight Sunday. Names of candidates are to go on the ballot in the order in which they file.

Four candidates will be nominated in each Senatorial district in a primary election Sept. 22. Each district then will elect two convention delegates in a Nov. 18 election on a non-partisan basis.

Six Candidates File
Candidates who filed from the 53rd Senatorial district—which includes the Quad-City area—are Doreen D. Young, Alton; Dan O'Neill, Alton; Ray Johnson, Troy; Victor L. Darnell, Edwardsville; Lucien B. Ringer, Wood River, and Alan Franzl, Edwardsville.

As the filing period opened, the Illinois Supreme Court still has under consideration the validity of the law setting up machinery for the convention. An opinion is expected this week.

Major provisions of the Constitution election law to be decided by the Supreme Court are the non-partisan election, whether public officials can serve and whether the senatorial districts meet one-man, one-vote requirements.

The 53rd Senatorial district includes Granite City, Name-

Wild Animals Are A Bit Too Wild To Become Good Pets

Wild animals do not make good pets; they are meant to live in the wild. Every spring or summer, well-intentioned people "adopt" baby raccoons, skunks, rabbits, ferrets or other wild creatures, but William L. Rutherford, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, notes that the practice is illegal and may be dangerous.

People assume that the young animals have been abandoned by their mothers, but this is not true in most cases, Rutherford said. Usually, the mother has left her baby for a few moments so that she can feed.

"When the animal is young, it's cute," Rutherford said. "But when it grows into an adult, trouble generally results. Often it bites its human foster parent."

"So-called pet deer are a constant cause of concern. A deer raised in captivity has no fear of humans—and when it matures it is large enough to inflict serious injury."

"A few years ago, a central Illinois farmer who kept a tame buck in his barnyard was attacked and killed by the animal. Last year, a buck kept in a pen in one of our state parks charged a department employee as he was feeding the animal and injured him severely."

"There is always a chance that a small animal like a baby skunk may be rabid," Rutherford said. "Skunks are notorious as rabies carriers and under no circumstances should anyone try to catch a baby skunk that he sees wandering around during the day."

"According to the Illinois Game Code, a person must buy a game breeder's permit before he may legally keep a wild animal or bird," he explained. "He must obtain the animal from another licensed dealer. He must not catch one in the woods. Any person who keeps wildlife without the required permit may be fined up to $300," Rutherford concluded.

protect their own civil rights. We are not going to make transfers on our own. We have the courts to interpret the law."

He said the government wants the same percentage of white and Negro teachers in each of the schools on the basis of the number of white and Negro students.

A number of Negro teachers would not want to be transferred from the Danbar and Blair schools, just as in the case of the white faculty, and it is not right to force them out of their current positions, he said.

If the teachers go to the courts to protect their civil rights as was the situation in East St. Louis, the government in all likelihood will lose, McManaway added.

He said it is the policy of the board that when vacancies occur, qualified teachers be employed, but that there are too few qualified Negro applicants available here.

Other Job Opportunities

"There are a number of job opportunities opening up for Negroes, and many are moving to the cities where pay is higher," he said. "You hire them, keep them a year or two and they're gone."

McManaway added that if the court orders the transfers, "we might end up with just half enough teachers in the fall, as they may quit. We have received mass resignations (pending a contract agreement) and we may transfer these teachers who have resigned."

Government figures showed that the only non-segregated faculty was at Madison High school, with 27 white and six Negro teachers with an enrollment of 426 white and 311 Negro students, while the entire district had 1864 white and 1289 Negro pupils with a faculty of 68 white and 38 Negro teachers. The Justice Department said it notified the board a year ago that an investigation showed the district to be in violation of the law and that efforts to obtain voluntary compliance failed.

Desegregation was one of the issues during faculty contract negotiations last fall, when the greatest stress was placed on salaries.

This is the third school district in Illinois to be named in desegregation suits. The others were East St. Louis and South Holland, a Chicago suburb.

That's all, folks.

One thing you don't get when you buy a new Volkswagen:
Confused.

What's there to get confused about? All you get to choose from are six different Volkswagens. Instead of 30 or 40 look-alike models some other car makers make. So it's a lot easier to pick out a VW. And a lot more comforting. You don't have to worry about your VW going out of style next year. Or turning out to be last year's dad cleverly disguised as this year's stud.

Those six VWs are the very same ones we've been making long improving for years.

Starting with our little car, the VW Beetle. And our sports car, the VW Karmann Ghia. And our luxury car, the VW Fastback. And our big car, the VW Squareback. And our great big car, the VW Station Wagon. And our chock wagon, the VW Camptable. And that's all, folks.

Floud Slows Casting At General Steel

Foundry operations were slowed and steel "heats" were set back for a day at General Steel Industries, Inc. as a result of the severe rainstorm Sunday night and Monday morning. It was reported yesterday.

A plant spokesman said flooding in some plant areas was down the sand pits which had to be dried out before casting operations could continue.

There were no layoffs and no major loss of production, a plant spokesman said. Operations were back to normal yesterday, he said.

Price Favors Cabinet Post Related to Youth

Young America would have a Cabinet-level voice in the affairs of government under a proposal Gov. Melvin Price, (D, 24th Illinois District), will introduce in the House this week. He will join Democratic Cong. Claude Pepper of Florida, the original sponsor, in introducing the measure, which is attracting bi-partisan support.

The Price-Perpet bill establishes a Department of Youth Affairs headed by a presidentially appointed Secretary of Youth Affairs and responsible for coordinating and expanding government programs involving young people. The Peace Corps, State and National Teachers Corps, for example, would be transferred to the new department.

The heart of the department would be an office of youth participation. It would recruit young people to federal service, and establish and administer a grants-in-aid program for local public agencies and non-profit groups to recruit, train and employ youths up to age 24 in community programs.

"Participation and involvement in public affairs," Price said, "are constructive ways to challenge our young people who question the purpose of our society."

Young America's involvement, he said, "would improve communication between generations, increase the young people's opportunity to control their own destinies, and bring a fresh sense of idealism to the affairs of state."

YMCA Board Hears Challenge from New UF Director

A challenge to Quad-Cityans to understand fully the functions of the YMCA and to learn all they can about agencies of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund was presented to 100 persons attending the annual dinner meeting of the YMCA board in the newly-remodeled "Y" auditorium.

The speaker was David Norton, newly-named executive director of the Tri-Cities Area United Fund.

He asked those present—"Do you understand all you know about your organization?" "If not, how can you tell the community about it?"

In presenting his challenge, Norton advised those present to first understand all details of the YMCA and then learn about the United Fund organizations.

"In this way," he added, "more effective communication can take place between the organization and the community."

"The laymen of United Fund groups can be most effective in interpreting goals of the organizations on a year-round basis rather than just at campaign time."

The meeting, commemorating the 51st year of the operation of the YMCA here, was presided over by William L. Harris, board president.

He presented plaques to three retiring board members in appreciation of their long years of service to the YMCA. They are Arthur Roseman with 46 years; E. G. Schmitt, 27 years and M. G. Reinhardt, 11 years.

In his report, Harris, referred to the growth of membership participation and reviewed the highlights of activities at the during 1968. He said the total youth and adult membership increased from 1119 to 2316. In addition there were 1364 registered members who were served in special programs for all ages.

Community outreach programs were begun in West Madison and North Venice; and a variety of programs and activities for all ages with recreational and educational trips.

Harris then introduced the board members including four new members, Robert J. McGrath, C. Keith Swain, Irvin C. Slate Jr. and Glenn A. Wolfe. Other board members are Dr. W. W. Bowers, Harold R. Fischer, Stephen Maeras, Carl Mathias, William Thielke, Dr. E. W. Walton, Harold E. Blankenship, Sylvester A. Dulgeroff, William Hoelscher, Henry D. Karandjoff, Melvin McKay and Charles Meyer.

1969 Officers

The 1969 officers for the executive board are, William Harris, president; Harold V. Thomas, first vice-president; James Henderson, second vice-president; Mrs. Esther Berger, secretary and Harold Fischer, treasurer.

Staff members are Marvin Van Metre, executive director; Forrest Cockrell, assistant executive director; Charles Huse, youth program director; Frank Salazar physical director; Ronald Ireland, assistant physical director. There are also 49 full-time employees and seven part-time desk employees.

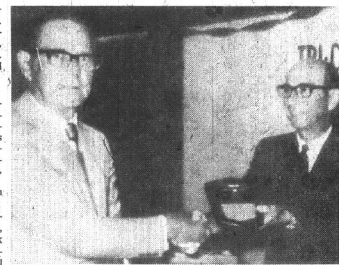

A silent tribute to Vernon C. Tharp, former executive director, who died last February, was led by Harris.

Hours for Volunteers

Van Metre, executive director, presented recognition plaques to volunteer leaders, A. J. Mueller Jr., Jack Atkinson, David Williams in the physical department and Mesdames Hedy Paterson, Millie Nagel, Homer Blumenstock and Mary Eaton as Tri-Hi-Y Advisors. Also honored with an employee service award was Mrs. Myrtle Bell, who has completed 10 years of service.

Warren Deacatur, the retiring president of the Granite City Rotary Club, presented a check for $4000 to the board president, to be used for the auditorium remodeling fund, as the Rotarians were instrumental in encouraging the "Y" to undertake the project, recently completed.

Musical entertainment was provided by the "New Life Singers" from the First Assembly of God Church under the direction of Rev. Charles Swick. Irvin Slate Jr., served as master of ceremonies and Rev. Frank Christ gave the invocation.

Motorist Arrested

Grady W. Phillips, Belleville, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way, following an accident at Third and State streets, Madison, at 2:45 p.m. yesterday, in which two cars were damaged, according to Madison police. Officers said Phillips pulled into State street from Third into the path of an auto driven by Ulysses Adams, 524 Mercedis street, Venice, causing Adams to stop his car suddenly. Adams' car was struck from the rear by a car driven by Robert J. Edwards of Lebanon. Phillips car was not involved in the collision. Phillips posted his driver's license as bond pending a magistrate hearing July 23.

Auto Stolen Six Months Ago Turns Up Stripped

A Granite City motorist whose automobile was stolen about six months ago has received a three-month storage bill for $80 and a $15 towing fee from an East St. Louis towing service. Upon investigating, Donald L. Winnie, 2900 Harding blvd., found his car on the storage lot—stripped.

His license plate was still on the back of the car, the windshield wipers were on the top and bolts from the transmission were on the floor board.

Winnie said that when his 1965 auto was first stolen from the parking lot at the American Steel Foundries, he reported the theft to the Granite City police station, which in turn reported it on an all-states bulletin.

He heard nothing of the auto until Saturday when he received a letter from the State police notifying him of its location, he said.

Finding it completely stripped when he went to redeem it, he was told that the auto had been towed in the same condition from an abandoned lot in another part of East St. Louis, and that the towing service was ordered by E. St. Louis police. He has asked authorities why he was not informed of the recovery three months ago, but has received no satisfaction, he said.

Normally, recovery of the auto would be reported to East St. Louis police, who then would notify Granite City and state police officials. Granite City police have received no report of the recovery.

Winnie, somewhat frustrated and angry, said the car in its current condition is not worth $50, and that he was informed by the towing company that he did not wish to pay the fees and remove the auto, he could sign and deliver the title over to the towing company. He has refused to do either.

He added that the storage lot contained about 40 cars, some of which were stripped, and he wondered how many have been stolen from Granite City.

Navy at Great Lakes Naval Station. He will leave Saturday to report in Hawaii for four months training and then go to Alaska for a one-year tour of duty.

Paul Davis, 19, of 2605 East 24th street, was sentenced to 30 days in the Madison county jail Tuesday in magistrate court on a charge of theft of less than $150, involving a radio, record player and television set.

Levee Board Wants to OK Home Sites

Amendment of Madison and St. Clair counties' building codes to give the East Side Levee and Sanitary district the final word in approval of building permits in non-incorporated areas will be sought by the levee district under action taken by the board of trustees in regular meeting yesterday.

On a motion by William "Mike" Ebersold, Venice, Madison county member of the levee board, the trustees authorized Levee Board Atty. John Sprague to write officials of the county boards of supervisors in both counties to initiate discussions for securing the proposed amendments.

The proposal was offered by Sprague after Ebersold at first suggested that the levee district set up some type of permit system which would allow the levee district to approve drainage facilities of sites on which new home construction is proposed in the future.

"Contractors are building homes in areas for which there is no drainage available," Ebersold told the board. "Then when high water comes along, the levee board gets the blame for it. I have even heard of instances where contractors have told prospective home owners not to worry about drainage because the levee board plans to build drainage facilities... when actually we know nothing about it."

Fill in Swampland
He said some contractors are "filling in swampland and causing water to back up in areas around the new homes they build. People buying these $25,000 and $30,000 houses are getting stuck with houses whose basements fill with water when we get a heavy rain. I think it is time that we hold up our end and assume the responsibility of approving the locations where houses are built," Ebersold added.

Ebersold said he believed the board should consider a permit system that would require builders to clear their plans through levee district engineers. Any homes built within the district.

Sprague then told the board, "I believe you should give considerable thought to Ebersold's idea. Everytime I see one of these new homes with four or five feet of water in it, I wonder if I have even heard of in-

GC Man Arrested After Forcing Ride to Madison

John O. Schueren, 25, of Washington avenue, was arrested by Madison police at 12:40 a.m. yesterday after he allegedly forced a Collinsville man to drive him from St. Louis to the Quad-City area under threats indicating that he was armed.

Schueren, who was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, was picked up by police at Rhodes street and Cambridge avenue after the driver, Elmer Eberhart, 34, of Collinsville, had jumped from his car and fled at Second street. Eberhart, who was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, was picked up by police at Rhodes street and Cambridge avenue after the driver, Elmer Eberhart, 34, of Collinsville, had jumped from his car and fled at Second street.

Arraigned later in magistrate court, Schueren was fined $50 on each charge, assessed $20 in court costs and transferred to the county jail at Edwardsville. Eberhart told officers that he was on his way home from work in St. Louis when Schueren jumped into his car at a stoplight and instructed Eberhart to drive him to Granite City. Eberhart said that he headed out Interstate 70 and that when he passed the cutoff to Granite City Schueren warned him to back up and make the turn to Granite City "or I'll shoot you." Eberhart said he heard a sound as if Schueren had cocked a gun.

Eberhart drove over Route 203 and after passing over the McComb bridge, Schueren told him to stop at a stop at Second street, grabbed the keys and jumped out. He said Schueren tried to grab him, but that he ran north on McCambridge avenue to the service station where he called the police.

He said Schueren carried a brown paper bag. Schueren was picked up by police a few minutes later, walking north on McCambridge. He was taken to the service station where he was identified by Eberhart.

Police said Schueren was not armed. At police headquarters, officers said, Schueren refused to be locked up and force was necessary to place him in a cell.

Madison Couple Escapes Blaze; Hotel Destroyed

A Fourth of July family reunion almost resulted in tragedy for Mr. and Mrs. Preston Porter of 808 Grand avenue, Madison, when a fire broke out as they were guests at the Mansard Hotel in Bowling Green, Ky. The blaze started on the third floor at 3:05 p.m. Saturday and raged out of control for more than two hours.

Porter and his wife, Juanita, were in rooms on the second floor of the hotel, when warned of the fire by his half-brother, James Hurst, who also was staying at the same hotel.

Porter, a partner for the Rosemont Paint Co., suffered burns on his neck when a section of a ceiling fell on him as he fled to safety. He was treated at the Warren County Hospital in Bowling Green and was released. Mrs. Porter and Hurst escaped unharmed.

Officials believe the cause of the fire, which destroyed the 80-year-old hotel, was from electrical wiring when the circuits became overloaded with the use of air conditioners and fans during the holiday heat wave. Estimated damage to the hotel was set at $600,000 with nearby firms receiving about $400,000 worth of damage.

The local couple lost all clothing and personal articles in the blaze.

Problems Require Rebirth of Citizenship Here—Schermer

"Madison and the Quad-Cities area can become great, but people like you and me are going to have to make it great," Avery Schermer, Madison businessman, concluded in an address yesterday on "The Future of Madison."

He urged more active public interest and response to community needs in making a talk at a weekly Madison Rotary luncheon, held at the Madison recreation center.

The major Madison asset was said to be Madison avenue. Carrying 30,000 vehicles daily, it is busier than all other Madison county streets except Broadway in Alton, Schermer reported, adding that this area could make better utilization of the large traffic volume than it does.

Chief liability is what Madison is land-locked, he said. "There is nowhere to expand, and the young people grow up and leave."

"There are economic problems facing the city, but city finances are not one of them," Schermer said in giving high praise to Mayor Stephen Maerz for the effectiveness of municipal services. He said that the mayor is criticized by "the press locally and in Alton" but that Maerz has led the city government to "a really good situation" financially.

New School Board Urged
Current Madison school problems have their origin as much as 50 years ago and for too long have been "swept under the rug," he said in calling for an entirely new Madison board of education.

He added that he does not condemn individuals but members, and that the school system has produced "a lot of fine people," although many students were so outstanding that they would have succeeded even if they had scribbled mathematics on a plank in the fashion of Abraham Lincoln.

He summed up by saying that "education in Madison has a long way to go. We certainly can't point with pride to the system we have."

"Another problem facing the city is sociological—a festering problem for years and ignored for years. Only very feeble attempts, if any, are being made to meet it."

"Even terms like 'social justice' are unknown in Madison. People do not want to know about the term, let alone do anything about it."

"We have a large minority group living here—suppressed, denied, discriminated against for long years. This has been accepted as a matter of course as a way of life. The feeling is that 'it's always been that way and always will be that way.'"

New Remedies Needed
"But we're in a new ball game. Problems of 1969 cannot be solved the way they were in 1939. It is a new generation with new problems and we have to have new solutions," the speaker emphasized.

"Despite the bouquets I throw, government is a problem. We have good government in the city of Madison, far better than we have in Granite City. But it could be improved a long way."

"We haven't got a bad police department, but we could have a much better one. One of the problems is that our chief is past retirement age and may retire in a year or two. No replacement is in sight. There is no training program assuring a succession of leadership."

"We had an excellent department when Barney Fraundorf was chief. Some of the things he did have enabled the police department to rock along and exist and do a job, but on the momentum he generated. Once the force behind the momentum leaves, it begins to slow down and we have been slowing down for years."

Schermer said the Madison volunteer fire department is a "bright spot." He said the low fire insurance rates are well for the excellent job they are doing, and I hope they continue doing as well.

Firms Lacking in Interest
"Businessmen are a real problem. Many delude themselves by feeling that problems are avoided by living elsewhere, but the problems remain while they are gone and are here the next morning when they arrive."

"Industry, as far as those in and near Madison, is a big zero. We don't have an industry that has any interest in the city of Madison, it is my firm belief."

"Housing is a problem in Madison. There are slums in minority and other areas. Some attempts have been made, but the administration has run into too much legal red tape. It took over three years for it to get a piece of property condemned through the courts."

Citing labor groups that he believes show concern only for their own union, he said better leadership could "make this a swinging community. This is a labor area, and almost anything could be achieved if we had someone of the caliber of a Harold Gibbons."

He asserted that "things can happen if we work for them to happen, but we've got to have more people in the Quad-Cities aroused and wanting them to happen."

He was introduced by George Frangoulis, program chairman. President Richard Sues said the club will be visited Sept. 17 by William Gerdes, district Rotary governor. Sues awarded a past president pin to Will Radman.

Too many people don't have pride in their city, their neighborhood and themselves. "Racism is the gravest problem facing Madison. This is a racist community—Madison, Granite City and Venice. This problem involves the most consequences and is the one deserving the most attention. It affects us the most directly and possible the most adversely."

Begin to Communicate
"In discussing problems, we should also consider making a start toward solutions. To solve all of these problems, there must be a dialogue, communications."

He would say that people should start talking to each other again, but my recollections as a boy and man are that they never really have, although they pass and speak.

"There have been insufficient discussions between people in government, in the schools, between teachers and parents and between students and teachers. There is no communication between black and white."

"Who can we talk to? There may be nobody, and this is our fault, because we haven't been talking for 50 years. We must have dialogue, contact and awareness among citizens."

"Basically fine people live here but they've got to be motivated. There's got to be a rebirth of spirit. People have to believe that someone is interested in their opinions and wishes."

"Become Involved"
"Then something can be done about it, with new leadership arising from the people. We can't be certain that a solution is evident, but it will help point the way toward a solution if people become involved and talk to each other. It may seem naphazard at first, but from it will emerge guideposts and directions."

"As a solution to educational problems, nothing less than a complete shakeup will make a start. In the light of today's problems, we would be better off with a clean sweep, starting with a board that includes representation from both sides of the tracks."

"We need to enlist the aid of our teachers, who are now organized in a union. They should be able to give constructive criticism of a system they work in."

"Madison businessmen were instrumental in settling the last school contract dispute, sitting in without saying a word. Because of their presence and interest, both parties stayed away from name-calling and were able to work out an agreement in three days."

Citizens Can Achieve Changes
"This is what can happen when people become involved. Most people have no initiative. A view of their ability to influence and improve a situation. Their impact can be tremendous."

"I spent much of 1965, 1966 and 1967 trying to get an Urban League established in Madison and St. Clair counties but the project was constantly torpedoed by the 'establishment.'"

"The establishment consists of city government, the press, bankers and manufacturers. We were working under the leadership of Paul Simon, now lieutenant governor. If a league is started now, it will be far too late."

Schermer applauded the victory of an independent candidate for alderman over the organization candidate this year, adding that the new council member has been "offering many constructive suggestions."

"The idea that nothing must change is a bad idea. Change is good. I am delighted that he was elected as an alderman."

The speaker said he warned accurately but unsuccessfully that an Association of Rotarians meeting in 1964 that stress should modernize and expand their parking or some new stores move in and take their customers.

At the same meeting, he pleaded for Saturday banking throughout the Quad-Cities, the club was told.

Current efforts to revitalize downtown Granite City are another example of action long after the appropriate time, Schermer said.

Insufficient United Giving
"There are many exceptions, of course, but some Madison businessmen hardly know what charity is. They may give the same $5 they did in 1939 and think they have done enough."

"One labor union in this area averages only 18 cents a member in its United Fund giving."

"There should be a daily newspaper in a community of 20,000 even if this would not be as profitable as semi-weekly. There is a responsibility to the public that should not be abdi-

Hits Utility Post

A car driven by Charles E. Beasley, 604 Webster street, Madison, was damaged in the front end about 11 a.m. yesterday when it struck a utility pole on county road near Merchants highway in Venice, police reported. Area's Birthrate is Up For First Half of Year

The Garden Corner

Home Grown Sweet Corn Ready
Commercial growers in the American Bottoms and many home gardeners are now enjoying early maturing sweet corn. This is the result of early planting and an early variety.

There are many selections of sweet corn. Fifteen varieties have been planted on the Robert Fourie farm west of Collinsville. The maturity dates of these 15 range from 64 days to 81 days. However, this year has required an extra week for the early varieties because of the cool spring.

The main early commercial varieties are Spring of Gold, Spring Rush and Northern Belle. Gold Cup and Gold Winner are main-crop 80-day selections that will be ready next week.

Home gardeners like Spring Gold, Golden Beauty, Barbecue, Gold Cup, Golden Cross Baby and many others. Extra fine quality eating can be found in Seneca Chief, Gold Queen and Silver Queen. Super Sweet is a sweet-sweet corn that many people prefer but it is more difficult to grow.

Sweet corn is best for eating when cooked as soon as possible after harvesting. If cooking is delayed, keep the corn cool or refrigerated for best quality.

Emphasis This Summer on Ditty Bag Gift Project

With a September deadline on shipping "ditty bags" for Christmas delivery to servicemen in Vietnam, emphasis will be placed on the project during July and August, board members noted at a monthly Tri-City chapter board meeting of the American Red Cross Tuesday at the First Granite City National Bank.

Now in its fifth year, the program is made possible by the cooperation of local individuals, business firms, community service organizations and church groups. The red and green drawing bags are filled with such gifts as soap cases, pens, small address books, nail clippers, wash cloths, picture holders, cigaret cases, toothbrush holders and small vacuum-pack tins of nuts and candies.

Each bag includes a holiday greeting card listing the contributors and the name of the chapter where the bag was prepared and mailed.

Development of a comprehensive local disaster plan is continuing, and another Red Cross chapter has extended disaster aid to the flooded State Park area, which is not in the Tri-City chapter boundaries, a discussion brought out.

The board approved a three-year office lease renewal and reviewed the annual budget conference with the United Fund in June.

Many water safety courses are in progress here this summer, Chapter Chairman Melvin L. Gillie reported. Treasurer Carl Thornberry reported on June finances.

Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, executive secretary, said June financial assistance to servicemen and their families amounted to $675.

The 232 office contacts during the past month consisted of 132 counseling services, 44 reports, 21 emergency leaves, 14 miscellaneous services, nine information contacts, seven health - welfare cases, two grants and loans, two leave extensions and one assist with government benefits.

Saathoff, employed by the M. C. Slater Trucking Co., which has a facility there, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with burns to the right arm, shoulder, neck, face and two fingers.

Sweet Adelines Plan Show

The Collinsville Chapter of Sweet Adelines is making preparations for an annual show to be given Nov. 15.

Sweet Adelines is an incorporated organization for women who sing four-part harmony barbershop style. There are about 18,000 members throughout the United States with chapters in Canada, Hawaii and the Canal Zone.

The Collinsville Chapter meets and rehearses every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Moose Hall on Vandavia street and women interested in visiting or joining the group are invited to attend rehearsals, or they may contact the chapter's membership chairman, Catherine Luner, 1510 West Main street, Collinsville.

The chapter is under the direction of Mrs. Midge Gallop. Mrs. Evelyn Stark is president of the group and Mrs. Vi Cook is show chairman.

Miss Dexheimer In New Post

Miss Freda Dexheimer, who has been serving as director of Christian Education at St. John United Church of Christ, has accepted a similar position at the Webster Groves Presbyterian Church and will assume her duties there shortly.

She was given a farewell party and noon luncheon Tuesday by the senior Hilltoppers at St. John Church.

Miss Dexheimer was presented with gifts and cards, together with the well wishes of the group.

Twenty-two members and five guests were present and the July birthdays were observed, including those of Mrs. Clara Harbig and Mrs. Clara Knipping, who also served as hostesses.

Games were enjoyed and prizes were awarded to the winners. Mrs. Irene Hendricks received the attendance prize.

"ROTARY CONNECTION," nationally famous rock group which will entertain at the YMCA Teen Town dance Monday night. Advance tickets are now on sale at the 'Y'.

'Rotary Connection' To Play at 'Y' Monday

The YMCA will feature the nationally famous rock band, "Rotary Connection," at its regularly scheduled dance Monday night.

The group, which has appeared on "The Tonight Show," at Fillmore East in New York and Fillmore in San Francisco, and many times at Kiel Auditorium, St. Louis, will be the biggest name band to appear at the "Y."

"Burlington Route" also will be on the bill. The dance will be from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the gym and attendance will be limited to the first 1000 ticket holders.

Advance tickets will remain on sale at the "Y" through Sunday at $2 for "Y" members and $2.50 for non-members. The door admission will be $2.75.

An effort is being made to book "Three Dog Night" for an engagement in August, according to Chuck Hasse, youth director, and the success of the "Rotary Connection" dance-concert will determine whether "Three Dog Night" will be scheduled.

SIU Museum 'Back in Business' after Fire

Southern Illinois University's Museum is "back in business" following the fire of June 8 in which it was housed.

Staff members have moved into temporary quarters, research on various collections has been resumed, and plans made for "taking the Museum to the people" through "mini-displays" and tours of museum installations and archaeological digs.

"The Museum is not just exhibits or the physical facilities for exhibits," J. Charles Kelley, director, declared. "It is staff, collections, restoration and preparation of artifacts and other materials, research on specimens, educational programming."

"The only things we lost in the fire were the facilities for display and preparation, plus a comparatively small quantity of books and manuscript materials. None of our research collections were damaged for they were already housed in scattered laboratories."

'Y' Trip to Baseball Game Planned July 17

The YMCA youth department is sponsoring a bus trip to see a St. Louis Cardinal baseball game on Thursday evening of next week when the Cards will host the Philadelphia Phillies.

The trip is open to all boys and girls 8 to 16 years old and is limited to the first 120 youngsters who register. The fee will be $1.25 for "Y" members and $1.75 for non-members. The fee, to be paid at the time of registration, covers both the ticket and transportation.

Three buses will leave the "Y" at 6:30 p.m. and will return about 45 minutes after the game. Further information is available at the "Y" youth office.

DeMolays Hear Top Men At Anniversary Conference

A group of 12 DeMolays and two advisors from the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolays, have returned from the 50th anniversary, International DeMolay conference, held in Kansas City, Mo.

They were among 4000 registrants from every state in the union and six foreign countries in attendance. The convention was held at the founding site of the Masonic-sponsored youth organization for young men from 14 to 21 years of age.

Local DeMolays who attended were Steve Hileman, Randy Fowler, Bill Watson, Rick Bargiel, Chuck Hileman, Ernie Edwards, Kirk Darnier, Tim Noud, Gary Denny, Steve Meador, Gary Bogovich, Keith Darnier and advisors Charles Meyer and Gilbert Watson.

Among the distinguished speakers who addressed the young men at the Municipal Auditorium were John G. Diefenbaker, former prime minister of Canada; Tom Clark, former Justice U. S. Supreme Court; James Somersall, president of Pepsi Cola Co.; Lowell Callaway, chairman of the executive committee of Newsweek and a senior DeMolay.

Bob Cummings, movie and television star; Hobson Adcock, a representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Pat Paulsen, television comedian; H. Roe Bortie, former mayor of Kansas City; Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Senator Stuart Symington, of Missouri.

Each of the speakers stressed the need for young men of integrity and religious faith to prepare themselves to meet the challenge of the day.

Diefenbaker said, "Those who advocate a permissive society and opening doors to more drugs, more sex and more violence are destroying our nation from within." He further stated, "Manufactured demonstrations which lead to the burning of a nation's flag and the burning of military selective service cards reflect a state of mind inconsistent with a knowledge and appreciation of democracy and indeed its survival."

Quotations from some of the other featured speakers were in part — Tom C. Clark stated, "Members of the Order of DeMolay should reject the extreme methods which the disenchanted radicals in this country practice and dedicate themselves to the idealism and purpose they organization stands for."

Somersall — "America's future would depend on the continued survival of the ideals based on man's capacity to produce and prosper in freedom."

"No generation ever inherits paradise," said Hobson Adcock, and while more no generation deserves to inherit paradise — paradise is something everyone works for."

The varying statements were made by the two senators, Barry Goldwater, (R) of Arizona and Stuart Symington (D) of Missouri.

Goldwater spoke during an afternoon session of the conference and said he was in favor of the ABM and stated that defense is one of our principal problems. He noted that the communist world was becoming more aggressive, building larger Armies and Navies and more nuclear weapons.

Symington, who appeared at the grand banquet at the closing of the conference, took an opposite view. He remarked he was opposed to the ABM and in favor of cutting down on military spending and concentrating on the social problems within our country.

For the benefit of DeMolays who gathered for this anniversary conference there were classes or sessions for Degree Work, Leadership Seminars, Congress Committee meetings as well as several social functions. Entertainment and music was provided by "The Topelia Sing Out Group," "The American Breed" and a performing group from the Glen Campbell show.

Also in attendance from Granite City for the Fourth of July festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hileman, Mrs. Jo Meyer and Mrs. Iris Watson.

Truck License Deadline in State Is Next Tuesday

The deadline for displaying the new fiscal year license plates on most trucks and other second division vehicles is less than a week away, Secretary of State Paul Powell reminded owners today.

Midnight, Tuesday, July 15, is the deadline for having the 1968-70 plates mounted on the vehicle. At present, registration totals about 550,000 of an expected 965,000.

Enforcement agencies in Illinois and other states have been notified of the deadline so that enforcement can begin in all areas at the same time, Powell said.

Legislation enacted by the 1967 session of the General Assembly changed registration of most second division vehicles from a calendar year to a fiscal year basis effective this year. To accomplish the transition, initial registration of those vehicles for 1969 was for six months only at one-half the annual fee. To obtain the fiscal year plates, the full annual fee must be paid, and the plates will be valid from July 1, 1969, through June 30, 1970.

Second division vehicles which remain on a calendar year basis include those issued M-plated vehicles owned by governmental units other than state and federal; B4 plates, local buses; B5 plates, school buses operated under contract with school districts; and FRM plates, agricultural equipment, Secretary Powell said.

Truck Tire Hits Auto

The right rear tire of a truck driven by Roger Coakley, 2100 Iowa street, struck the left rear fender of a car owned by Joseph Hildebranko, Chicago, while it was parked at 2:30 p.m. Monday at Niedringhaus and Edison avenues.

Extension Adviser

Pond owners ask how to control algae and weeds in their ponds. Copper sulfate is very effective in controlling algae and doesn't cost much.

Plankton algae, also called water bloom, cause the water to appear soupy green or brown. Apply 5.4 pounds of copper sulfate per surface acre. Dissolve the chemical in water and spray over the pond surface.

Filamentous algae, commonly called pond scum, consists of growths of long, stringy, hair-like strands. Copper sulfate at the rate of 2.7 pounds per acre foot of water applied as a solution will control this type of algae.

Several pond weeds can be killed with herbicides that are not very expensive. Details of controlling pond weeds, along with pictures to identify the most common pond weeds, are given in a State of Illinois Department of Conservation publication, "Aquatic Weeds," available at the county extension office.

Soybean Survey

A survey to determine the micronutrient content in the soil and in soybean plants in Madison county has been started.

This is part of a state-wide research effort by the agronomy department of the University of Illinois to learn more about the minor element situation and whether we have too little or too much of any element.

Samples collected in Madison county will be taken to the University of Illinois where spectrographic analysis will be made to determine which elements, and how much of each, are present.

Soil samples and plant specimens are being collected from each township in Madison county. If deficiencies of any elements are found or suspected, field trials will be made in future years to determine if an increase in yield can be obtained by applying minor elements.

A soybean yield contest is being sponsored again this year by the Illinois Crop Improvement Association and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Objective of contestants is to grow the highest yield possible. Economies of production often are disregarded by farmers in such contests. Farmers feel they can afford to "shoot the works" on five acres just to see what happens. Sometimes the results are disappointing.

Any farmer may enter the contest. Entry deadline is Aug. 1. Contest details are available at the county extension office.

Fatal Bee Stings

More people die each year from bee stings than from poisonous snake bites. The list of stinging insects includes bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets.

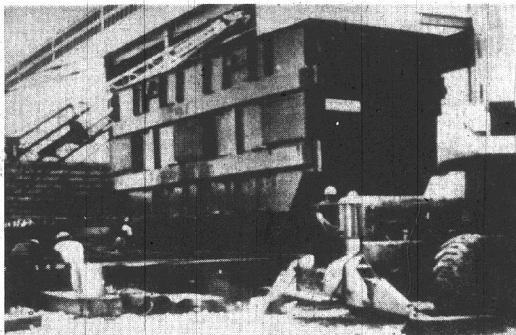

Honeybees, bumblebees, and yellow jackets are the main culprits.

Most people after being stung feel a sharp pain for a short time and then some swelling in the area of the sting. The problem is that people who are allergic to bee stings and subject to severe reactions or death don't know it until it's too late.

If you are sensitive to insect bites, you should be extremely cautious when around stinging insects.

Use insect repellent or protective clothing when working near stinging insects. Don't use hairdressers or perfumes that have floral odors. Wear light-colored clothing.

Move slowly if you are near a bee's nest. Motion and air movement will attract a mad

MONSTROUS TRANSFORMER shown here as it is positioned at Illinois Power Co.'s new Baldwin power plant will jump voltage from 19,300 to 345,000 volts. The transformer, largest in the Illinois Power Co. system, is scheduled for service next year. It was manufactured by General Electric Co. in Pittsfield, Mass., is 46 feet long, 26 feet wide and 30 feet high.

Air Pollution Level Remains High in GC

An evaluation of recent data compiled from the Granite City air monitoring network by Prof. E. C. Hoelscher, technical secretary of the city Air Pollution Control Board, shows no significant change from the previous month, according to Henry Bieniecki, board chairman.

Both maximum and average values still exceed the goals established by the state for heavy industrial areas by more than 250%.

Bieniecki indicated that data obtained from a recently installed wind direction and velocity instrument was extremely useful in interpreting air pollution monitoring data.

The equipment, on loan from Washington University in St. Louis, will assist air pollution intensity with changes in wind direction and help document consistent violations of pollutant emission regulations.

Bees and wasps usually sting only if they are touched or their nests are in danger. Ask your physician how to prevent and give emergency treatment to stings.

Dogs and Ticks

If your dog roams freely in uncultivated fields and brushlands during the summer months, he may pick up hundreds of ticks a day. Dog ticks, often called wood ticks, can lower the animal's vitality and spoil his disposition.

You should check your dog for ticks at least twice a week. You'll find them around the dog's neck, in and around his ears, under his legs and between his toes.

To treat a tick-infested dog, dust the animal with an appropriate pesticide. Use a four percent malathion dust or a five percent Sevin dust. Rub the dust thoroughly through the dog's hair, especially on his back and neck.

Before using any pesticide, read the label carefully. For further information on how to treat tick-infested dogs, yards and homes, contact the county extension adviser.

Watering Trees

Newly planted trees need extra water to survive transplanting and build up strength.

Watering every week is sure to pay off when you have a newly planted tree or hope to get extra protection from a small tree. Nearby trees and lawn grass are also looking for extra water and can kill a small tree when the weather gets hot and dry.

Use your lawn sprinkler to be certain the job is well done. When the sprinkler runs an hour or more the soil becomes soaked for several inches and stores lots of extra gallons for your pet tree and has extra for the nearby large trees and grass.

Better root development results when roots can find water by growing out into new soil to find water. Dribbling hoses near the stump put most of the water near the tree but the nearby soil remains dry. Developing roots will not grow into this dry soil and remain confined to the small area near the tree.

When grass and weeds grow near a young tree they should be hoed out or pulled. Grass and weeds use lots of water and fertilizer when a young tree is struggling to get started. Do not plant flowers or a garden near a new tree unless you are sure you are adding plenty of extra water each week.

Keep Calm with Bees

A bee or wasp in the house or car is easy to manage when you know they are trying to escape.

A bee or wasp in your car is pretty upsetting, but is easily handled when you keep calm. Don't try to kill or remove it while you are under way. All these stinging insects are anxious to escape and frantically fly from one window to another. Pull off the road and open the windows and doors so the bee can escape. Sometimes a newspaper will help to herd it to the window.

When a bee or wasp suddenly appears in your house the same rule applies. Keep calm. One shot with a pressurized insect spray bomb will solve the problem. If a swarm of bees suddenly appears in your backyard do not attempt to drive it away. Do not throw anything at the swarm or squirt it with water. Do not try to kill the swarm with spray. Traveling swarms move away within a few hours or a couple of days. Swarming bees will not attack children or pets unless they are annoyed.

Wood Ticks on Dogs

Nearby woods and vacant fields can be full of wood ticks just waiting for your dog to take a stroll.

Wood ticks occasionally appear on family pets in large numbers and easily spoil their disposition. When a hundreds move in on your family dog they lose their vitality.

During vacations and camping trips, frequently check around the neck, in and around the ears and under the legs. Sometimes they are a problem between the toes.

Tick control is easy when you use malathion dust or Sevin dust. Do not use the wettable powder. Four per cent malathion dust or five per cent Sevin dust will have instructions on the package for treating pets.

Repairing Washouts in Turf

Washouts in turf and slopes can be easily repaired with sandbags and sod.

Repairing washouts can be a problem when the next rain may be a few days away. One way to stabilize the new soil is burp bags partly filled with soil. The bag holds the soil in place while new sod gets established. Small washouts can be filled with bags of soil while large washouts will need layers or small dams of bagged soil. Sodding these washouts will instantly repair the turf while the bags are your insurance against an unexpected disaster. The bags will quickly rot as the new sod becomes established. When complete sodding is difficult, use strips of sod spaced 8-10 inches apart. Cut your sod into three inch strips. Plant the strips across the wash. Add extra soil between the sod strips so the sod is embedded in the soil. Seed the earth strips between the sod and carefully pack the sod and soil.

Water the repaired area a little every day to promote sod growth and seed germination. Fertilize lightly every month to promote good growth. Local nurserymen have a supply of burp bags and can supply you with sod and additional advice.

Weed Controls in Flowers

Treflan is now sold for garden use to control many varieties of weeds in flowers, shrubs and roses.

Treflan is well known as a weed control chemical for field beans and nursery plants. Now you can buy shaker cans of granular treflan in local garden stores for home use. Treflan is relatively safe for a variety of plants and shrubs but should not be used on new transplants or until new seedlings are two inches high. Flowers, shrubs and roses must be cultivated first to kill all established weeds, then treflan granules scattered evenly over the fresh soil. Treflan is most effective when the granules are promptly raked into the soil and watered. Two months control of garden weeds often occurs, but an occasional smart weed or jungle weed may survive.

Rate of application is important to get control without plant injury. The shaker you buy has no gauge for application. The recommended rate of 25 ounces on 250 square feet is three tablespoons on ten square feet. You can make a junior sized shaker by punching nail holes in the lid of baby food jars. When you measure three tablespoons of the granules into the jar you can easily apply the right amount to each, ten square foot space.

Moths in Your Lawn

Sod webworm moths are the bursaricious moths which fly up when you mow or brush against the shrubbery.

Sod webworm larvae is a chewing pest which lives in the grass clippings and feeds on blades of grass. When the worms aren't too thick and the grass is growing this pest does not create noticeable injury. The grass grows faster than the insects can harvest it and the effect to your eye is normal turf.

Webworm moths in your lawn in early June are the start of the first generation which will be active in late June and early July. This mid-summer generation seldom creates noticeable damage because rains and fertilizer keep the grass growing. The population of worms is only a fraction of the late summer generation which appears in mid August.

Webworm damage is seldom a problem before August. If you are suspicious of brown areas in your turf look for clipped off plants. Webworms cut off the grass about 1/2 inch above the soil. When lots of grass in the brown areas are clipped off you know webworm is serious while lots of dead clumps but not chewing indicate a serious disease.

Early season treatment for webworm is a waste of money unless you can find extensive chewing of entire clumps. If control is necessary in August use carbaryl or diazinon as a spray or granules. If you plan to spray use 2-3 gallons of spray per 1000 sq. ft. or water the lawn just before you spray.

Summer Driving Check List Designed to Prevent Stalls

A 12-point summer driving check list for motorists to prevent highway stallings during the hot months has been compiled by automotive instructors at Southern Illinois University's Vocational-Technical Institute at Carbondale.

Most people remember to prepare their cars for winter, but few seem to realize that hard summer driving requires more care, says L. D. Willey, head of the program. Stranded vacationers are the ones who didn't take time to have simple maintenance performed before they set out.

Willey, and his staff of instructors in the two-year course which trains technicians for research and service areas of the automotive industry, have come up with these 12 rules for summer maintenance:

1. Get a complete tune-up (ignition-carburetor).
2. Have the chassis inspected and lubricated; run engine to operating temperature, change oil and filter.
3. Rotate and inspect tires.
4. Balance wheels.
5. Inspect and pack front wheel bearings and check brakes.

6. Check wheel alignment and adjust steering.
7. Check fan, power steering and air conditioning belts.
8. Lubricate and inspect universal joints.
9. Service air conditioner and heater; check blowers and hoses.
10. Service cooling system and inspect hoses, thermostat and radiator. (Don't forget bugs in the radiator core and evaporator—remove them with an air gun and water.)
11. Inspect wiper blades and windshield washer.
12. Inspect all lights and signaling devices.

Always keep in mind, they emphasize, that the internal combustion engine is a heat engine and heat must be maintained at the correct level for efficient operation. The cooling system is sealed, so the proper thermostat and correct radiator pressure cap must be used, or pressure is lost and the engine will heat. All cars with air conditioners must use permanent antifreeze.

Bricklayers Picket GC Council Session

Council members crossed a two-man informational picket line Monday night to attend the regular session at the city hall, and the pickets still were there when the aldermen departed about 10:30 p.m. Some entered through the back door.

Picketing the city hall were two members of Bricklayers Local 65. The union is requesting the city to hire bricklayers for manhole and catchbasin repairs and construction, work that has been done by regular street department employees.

Several aldermen stopped to chat with the pickets before entering the building, and there was virtually full attendance by the city council. The only absent member was Alderman Paul Schuler of the Sixth Ward, who is on vacation.

The pickets carried umbrellas as stalling: "City of Granite City Street Department does not conform to area standards of employment. Bricklayers Local 65" walking along the picket lines at the two entrances to the city hall were W. T. Cuminsky and Harry Weiss.

The Bricklayers also have had an informational picket at the city garage, 19th and Benton streets, for the past several weeks.

There was no mention of the pickets during Monday night's session. The council has contended the street department should do the work, but has agreed that any new construction will be contracted. The city also has decided to go to poured concrete manholes, rather than building them with brick.

Officials of the Bricklayers Union have appeared at council sessions on three occasions in the past several months to request the city to hire a bricklayer for the street department or to contract for brickwork done by street department workers.

To open Monday night's session, the prayer was given by Alderman Earl Jarrett, and the pledge to the flag was led by Mayor Partney.

City 'Files' Request for Individual Sewer Tap-On

A request for a sanitary sewer tap-on by Carl Fletcher of 2232 Benton street for property at 2504 Pine street, which is outside the city limits, was rejected Monday night by Granite City Council members.

Alderman Partney said the tap-on probably could be approved if the property was annexed to the city and the individual became a city taxpayer as well as paying the tap-on fee and monthly sewer and sewage treatment charges.

Mayor Partney added the tap-on would be along the Lynch avenue sanitary lines where there have been several breaks.

New Tap-On Requirement

In other action, the council amended the building code to prohibit the use of bituminous or coal tar fiber pipe for sewer connections. Alderman Partney pointed out that in cleaning such lines, the pipe often is broken or torn.

At Partney's request, the street department is to raise a sanitary sewer manhole at the end of Ash avenue by three to 3½ feet to prevent storm water from flowing into the line and flooding basements in the area. Engineering advice is to be sought for a possible extension or relocation of a vent pipe at the Fehling road sanitary sewer lift station.

Alderman Robertson said the vent pipe extends up the side of a utility pole, but that the power company will not permit it to be extended any closer to the wires. "The people are complaining that the odor from the fumes is entering their homes. Perhaps a taller pole could be installed or the pipe relocated across the street," he recommended.

Lot to be Appraised Council members voted approval for the Downtown Granite City, Inc., to pay for appraisal of the new municipal parking lot in the 1800 block of Edison avenue, just off 19th street.

The metered lot with 36 spaces was developed by the downtown merchants who are asking the city to buy it with parking meter funds. The mayor or was authorized to hire an appraiser for the job. The asking price has been $40,000 to $44,000.

Approval was given a lone bid for purchase of 700 feet of one-inch plastic hose to be used by the street department for its high-pressure jet-water sewer cleaning unit. Cable Center, Inc., St. Louis, submitted a figure of $189 per 100-foot section, for a total cost of $1323.

Authorization was given for inspection of the roof of the main fire station at 23rd street and Madison avenue which leaked during Monday's heavy rains. Alderman A. Whitmer, chairman of the Fire and Water committee, reported that the committee was in wage negotiations with the Fire Fighters Union.

Weed Complaints

Referred to City Inspector Jack Fricker were complaints by Alderman Dallas of two-foot weeds on lots and property owned by a real estate firm along Park avenue off 28th street. Fricker reported that complaints have been filed to require the cutting of weeds on property in North Granite and at Briarcliff subdivision.

Alderman Dallas, who is chairman of the Sanitary committee, was given authority to rehire a private insect spraying firm for an additional 40 hours to combat mosquitoes with the advent of high water. Alderman Baker commented that since the firm had sprayed in areas at the Seventh Ward, individuals there have once again been able to sit "outside on their patios."

Kiwanis Hear Report On Nat'l Convention

Ed Moore, president, of the Kiwanis Club presided at their business luncheon meeting Monday evening at the Rose Bowl.

Peter Jallen submitted a report on the 84th annual convention of Kiwanis International held in Miami Beach, Fla., from June 30 to July 2. He announced a successful convention with Robert F. Weber of Detroit Number One Club, Detroit, Mich., being elected to the office of president of Kiwanis International.

A final discussion was held on the advertising for the Kiwanis-Bow Line Boat Race to be held on July 27 on the river between the Bow Line Boat grounds near the Hartford Canal. William Seebold is serving as chairman for this summer project.

Over Half Who Register With State Succeed in Finding Jobs

(Tri-City and Illinois Bar Associations)

The person who is out of work has a better than 50-50 chance of finding a new job through the Illinois State Employment Service.

State law requires the Illinois Department of Labor to operate free employment services in all municipalities in the state having a population of 25,000 or more.

During 1968, the State Employment Service found jobs for 368,776 persons, more than half the number of applicants.

Private employment agencies licensed by the state found jobs for another 219,698 persons during the year.

By law, any person who has applied for a job through the State Employment Service and who is receiving public aid, and who is able to work, must register with the State Employment Service.

The employment office will try to find a new job for any applicant, including the person who is employed but wants to make a change.

The person who is registered as a job-seeker with the State Employment Service is free to apply for work directly with a prospective employer, or through any of the 815 licensed private employment agencies.

Although private employment agencies are authorized by law to charge fees for placing a person in a job, often the employer pays the fee, rather than the employee.

The State Employment Service also is required by law to help find jobs for discharged persons who are barred from employment because of a criminal record. The Service has a special bonding program for such persons and other workers who ordinarily would be unable to qualify for jobs that require bonded employees, such as some messengers and delivery services.

State Finances, Screening Process, Attitude Of University Affect Development of SIU-SW

A certain degree of competition between the two major campuses of Southern Illinois University could be healthy, but we hope the state does not seek to pit them against each other in scrambling for severely limited funds meted out as if SIU had only a single campus.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education has become a kind of screening agency, particularly for new construction projects, with the General Assembly remaining as the ultimate arbiter of how fast university buildings can be added. The 1969 box score shows nine Carbondale and five Southern Illinois proposals submitted by the university, three at each location forwarded by the Board of Higher Education and two at each site authorized by legislators.

A valid objection probably could be made regarding the state board's approval of only 42% of the building plans prepared by SIU. It is possible that all colleges "passed" their requests a bit, in awareness that trimming is likely, but such extreme whittling before the Assembly begins its consideration of the needs seems unfortunate.

The fact that both the Higher Board and legislature authorized identical numbers of new structures here and at Carbondale, three each and two each, perhaps contains a message for SIU.

With the Southwestern campus situated in a major metropolitan area enjoying access to many non-university facilities that could supplement the instructional program, it might be sounder policy to reduce the disparity reflected by the nine-five ratio.

Instead of gradually increasing the difference in size between the large and small institutions, SIU perhaps should concentrate a lion's share of its developmental planning at the site still comparatively lacking in diverse facilities.

Access Street to North Venice Imperative

The lack of adequate access to North Venice, West Madison and the area of the Dow Chemical Co. plant, with heavy auto and truck traffic funneled through a residential area, needs to be ended without further ado.

The Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development deserves praise for its expressed willingness to assist financially in the installation of a roadway intersecting with State street, Madison, near Tenth or Twelfth streets.

Development of North Venice has been cooperating in discussions of the situation, and the favorable stand taken by the state government undoubtedly can lead to a solution.

What Is Best for the Students Should Guide Decisions on Madison School Staff Policies

Complaints by its political foes, that the present federal administration is "out" school desegregation are hardly borne out by the suit filed this week against the Madison community unit school district.

The suit alleges that while both races are well represented on the teaching staff, assignments have resulted in faculty racial imbalances at most of the six schools. It seeks staff transfers this fall and a plan to assure adequate staff integration in future years.

A national spotlight of a negative nature is not a particularly welcome development here or elsewhere. But if the suit improves compliance with U. S. laws and brings justice nearer to realization, there will have been a net gain.

Much progress has been made in the Madison district and school officials felt they had been moving fast enough. However, a Justice Department notice a year ago presaged the current court action, and further reworking of faculty assignments seems likely to be necessary.

At hearing July 14 at the U. S. District Court in Springfield will enable both parties to air the facts considered to be pertinent.

The governing factor should be what is best for the 3000 students. They have a right to good education, fair treatment, adequate discipline, a school system not overly dominated by political or other organizations, and an atmosphere of calm in which learning is possible and in which instruction can be effective.

Some but not all of those conditions have been consistently present in Madison schools in the past. Everyone should strive to see them achieved fully in the future.

Who Needs Storm Sewers in Dry Weather?

The unusually severe rains of last week and of recent months focus attention on the still unmet drainage needs here and in the surrounding area.

Although Granite City has been torn up for nearly a year by the installation of new sewers, outlying areas of the city have been denied adequate drainage facilities.

Some but not all of those conditions have been consistently present in Madison schools in the past. Everyone should strive to see them achieved fully in the future.

It was said to think back to 1967, when Granite City voters rejected 1648 to 1259 a $14 million drainage program involving $8 million in bonds and the remainder in federal tax grants. A month later, they approved 1445 to 1262 a $3,400,000 project ($1,900,000 bonds and $1,500,000 from the U.S.) which has permitted a start to be made in separating storm and sanitary sewers. New storm lines being installed in the central area will end sewer backups there.

The responsibility for further drainage action in Quad-City neighborhoods where problems exist rests primarily on the residents and their local officials. In some nearby areas, such as State Park, there may be a link to hillside runoff, which does not require city, township, district or municipal boundaries.

We hope the state's new hillside drainage commission can come up with a plan for state-federal action soon, and that deficiencies not remedied through this approach can be dealt with in other ways.

The problem, as this week's inconvenience and damage prove, does not just go away when ignored.

Where people "miss the boat" in providing drainage lines, they wind up in boats, sooner or later.

It's about time again for somebody to see some voyagers from another planet.

Peninsula, Island of Hong Kong a Bright Beacon of Free Enterprise Perilously Close to the Untrustworthy Communist Chinese Mainland

By WILLIAM F. WINTER

"Gay doo cheen?" "The God why?" Not surprisingly, these phrases are heard often in the British crown colony of Hong Kong and its precarious south-east China perch.

They mean "How much money?" and "Too expensive!" and they are useful tools in shopping—a favorite activity for visitors, due to the favorable money exchange rate.

With slightly over six Hong Kong dollars obtained for each U. S. dollar, a typical dinner can be purchased for about $1 U. S. A meal may be twice that figure in a first-class restaurant or supper club. The restaurants and the hotels, which offer 7100 rooms, are among the best in the world.

Rickshaws cost 50 Hong Kong cents for every five minutes or quarter-mile; taxis are $1 to $1.50 for the first mile and 20 cents for succeeding quarters; buses 10 to 25 cents; and trains to the 1300-foot Victoria Peak, 60 Hong Kong cents.

Weekly newspaper editors visiting there in May were an exception due to the brevity of their stay, but most men who go to Hong Kong order a custom-made suit.

Disappointment can result if the clothes buyer is negligent or excessively cost-conscious in selecting the lining and thread. But, when the materials are the same, tailored suits in Hong Kong are cheaper than ready-made suits in the U. S. because of the lower labor costs, which average $13.50 for a 50-hour week.

Chinese-type goods requiring a Comprehensive Certificate of Origin to prove they were not made in Red China include beaded articles, ceramicware, paintings, ivoryware, jewelry, textile and wooden novelties and wooten rugs.

Goods banned by the U. S. if brought from Hong Kong include antiques made outside of Hong Kong, hand-embroidered handicrafts in linen, jade and ivory jewelry.

Because it is a free port, with no duty or tax imposed, Hong Kong is able to offer cameras and pearls cheaper than Japan and perfumes, fabrics and precious stones at prices usually lower than those in the places of origin.

Tourists are nearing a million a year, and the U. S. State Department plans to expand Kakt Air to accommodate new jumbo jets. They are attracted not only by the bargains but by the beaches, the sailing and the magic of an area that has so many dramatic contrasts.

East not only meets West, but the ancient world meets the modern in Hong Kong.

Around the corner from spacious avenues dotted with office buildings and smart shops are quaint, narrow streets reminiscent of old China. Western-style hotels are only a few seconds' walk from droves of waterborne junks and sampans.

There is an air of busy excitement, sales of textiles and other goods of the Orient are distasteful or goods have reached $15 billion annually.

Over 85% of the residents are Chinese, most of them Cantonese, with that dialect prevailing.

Of the 50,000 non-Chinese, most are British subjects, with 4500 Americans, 2000 Portuguese, and 2000 Japanese.

Included in the present colony are Hong Kong Island, 29 square miles, one million population, ceded permanently to Britain by the Chinese emperor in 1842; the Kowloon Peninsula, three square miles, two million people, ceded in 1860; and the New Territories, 365 square miles, half million population, leased from the Chinese mainland in 1898 for 99 years.

There are 100,000 people who live on boats near Aberdeen, a fishing village. Some of the leading restaurants are of the floating variety.

Taste delights in Hong Kong include roast Peking duck (order the whole duck served at the table to avoid getting left-overs), roast pig (reservations required in advance), yutp cha or Chinese-style cafeteria food selected from trays carried around by waitresses (you pay according to the number and type of plates and baskets on your table at the end of the meal), and a variety of meats to clear them away during the meal), shark's fin soup (made from genuine fish, chicken broth, corn starch and peanut oil), bird's nest soup (extract of the saliva used by swallows to construct their nests), sweet and sour pork (pork cubes rolled in flower and egg batter and deep fried) and chow fun (fried rice with egg, shrimp, ham, peas and green onions).

Mongolian hot pot parties in Hong Kong aren't for marijuana smokers. They feature a kind of stew-soup stock with vegetables, seafood and meat—retrieved by fishing with chop sticks and then dipped into a sauce of peanut paste and other condiments.

Hong Kong is the Chinese phrase for "fragrant harbor," so named because ships customarily stopped there to take on fresh water from a nearby spring.

The name of Kowloon, the most densely-populated area, is derived from an incident 800 years ago when the boy Emperor Ping counted the eight hills and remarked that there must be eight dragons, because of the ancient belief that a dragon inhabited every mountain. Since another old belief was that emperors were dragons, his prime minister told him there were nine dragons ("chow-loom").

The hills are found both on the mainland peninsula and on the island separated from it by a channel varying from a half-mile to a mile in width. There are plans at present to connect the two with Kowloon by a tunnel.

Over two-thirds of the people live in urban areas bordering the beautiful harbor, with much overcrowding that apartment buildings and other structures continue to be built taller and taller.

Many stores and restaurants have to attract patrons up one or more flights, there being insufficient space for them on the ground floor.

Choice industrial sites cost a stratospheric $2 a square foot. A "borrowed place living on borrowed time"—Hong Kong is truly a dazzling gem set in the middle of a barren wasteland of despair and comparative poverty.

It is a spark is a sight well worth beholding. If it is dimmed by future events, the loss will be immense and tragic.

TAKES NOW A SEVERE BURDEN FOR WORKERS

To the Editor:

The income tax that the governor wanted was supported mainly by him and Mayor Daley of Chicago. It may be a blessing in disguise, but to the worker in Illinois it is another burden to bear.

A man pays income tax, Social Security tax, sales tax, personal property tax, real estate tax and many more on down the line, all of which comes from his paycheck.

After all these taxes come out, how much is left to provide for his family's needs, pay for his food and clothing, pay for a home, pay for transportation back and forth from work, pay for his children's education, expected bills that pop up from time to time?

What will a man work for, if there is nothing more than to earn money to pay taxes with, with very little left over to provide for his family?

Suppose a man earns $8000 a year and the federal government takes $2000 in taxes for income tax and maybe $800 for Social Security, leaving $5200. Say Illinois taxes total $1000. This would leave $4200, which isn't much when a man considers utilities, car and home payments.

His total personal and real estate taxes may be over $450 a year. What does a man have left?

Time goes on, the more he works and makes, the more taxes come out of his pocket. He can only be considered a working poor man.

This is because taxes today are getting out of hand. The people can only blame them for letting it happen. People talk about taxes, but only one person in ten takes the time and initiative to sit down and write their senator or representative and air their views.

People can form lobbies against certain things, just as members of the legislature can take a stand.

One thing says the tax is needed because the state is going broke. But the state legislature under former Gov. Shapiro has been so inept that the state was so broke, where did the money come from for legislators to give themselves $3000 salaries? This was a year after they began charging gun owners $5 for registration and $10 for a license.

The right to bear arms is guaranteed under the constitution. But the state gun law says that a gun not registered is illegal and that you are subject to arrest and fine.

Who will benefit from the state income tax, people or politicians? Will there be more and more roads and schools, or more political jobs which the people must pay for?

Is someone in Springfield just looking for a free ride financed by the people of this state?

Ask yourself these questions, and come up with a few more, like: If the legislature keeps reducing its budget by hacking off needed programs, just what is the income of all the money they gained by an income tax, plus the increased revenue from cigarettes and liquor?

Plus highway taxes on large trucks, plus truck inspection fees, plus an increase in the

BIG STATE PROGRAM TO PROVIDE MODERN ROADS

To the Editor:

I've spent quite some time in doing homework on the subject of highways, for it is a most important subject, and feel obliged to state my views to constituents.

No one can dispute the deplorable situation of our highways. There are 500 miles of Interstate construction and some extensive construction in progress. The highways were being built during the 1930s. We are very much behind other states.

I can rank last among the nine most populous states per person spent on highways, and last among our immediate neighbors. There are 500 miles of narrow, unsafe and sub-standard highways carrying significant traffic volumes.

The governor's proposal calls for an intensive road building program over the next ten years in addition to the current level of work. Along with some general tax increases, it calls for a bonding program.

The priority list for elimination of the 500 miles of sub-standard highways; an additional 100 miles of Interstate; 1500 miles of supplemental freeways; and 880 miles of area development highways.

The Illinois highway department lists 40 miles of Madison county highways and 17 narrow bridges as having high replacement priority, and the U. S. 67 corridor along western Madison county as being of early construction importance.

It's a massive program designed to meet massive needs. There is a whopping interest bill attached in its size, but it can be justified economically.

The total benefits are tangible as well as intangible—savings in construction costs, savings in time, savings in accidents and police costs; savings in travel time; savings in time and money in wear and tear on autos and trucks; savings in highway maintenance costs; contributions to the general economic and business development of Illinois; and savings in lives.

My judgment is that the benefits far outweigh the disadvantages and that, watching money pile up, we can have a modern highway system serving the state relatively early, contributing economic benefits, convenience and life-and-death benefits.

We need to cooperate in good faith so that the program isn't abandoned and so that the people get as much as they can for their money.

It was necessary to seek Cuban agreement to the plan because the Cuban government would have to consent to the entry into Cuba, of the persons involved.

We regret to report, to you that the Cubans have not agreed to the proposal. As to your proposal that metal-detecting devices be set up in certain airports, we are informed that the Federal Aviation Administration recently has installed devices of this nature in various airports in the country.

Q—My son has a $500 scholarship for college. Will he have to count this as taxable income and will it affect his dependency exemption for him?

A—Income from scholarships is generally not taxable, and does not have to be included by parents in determining a student's total support. So, unless your son's scholarship has some special features, it should not affect the tax situation of either of you.

Q—Is it too late to take a credit for retirement income? I didn't know until recently that I was entitled to it.

A—You may claim a refund for income credit by filing a Form 1040X within three years from the date the return was due or two years from the date the tax was paid, whichever is later.

You will also have to fill out the information required to support this claim that should have been entered on the original return.

The forms and instructions you will need are available at your nearest IRS office.

July Plentiful Foods Are Tasty Pleasers

Peaches 'n' cream, fresh peach pie, peach shortcake... make your mouth water? If so, you can satisfy your taste buds with peaches throughout July. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is featuring these blushing beauties as the plentiful for the month.

Other July plentifuls include watermelons, summer vegetables and rice. Watermelon thumpers and eaters, too, will be in their glory as supplies of both late spring and early summer crops hit retail markets.

Color, crispness, vitamins and minerals are at your command with summer vegetables. Tossed garden salads, main dish garnishes and side dish accompaniments are only some of the ways to highlight summer vegetables from asparagus to zucchini.

Supplies of rough rice this year are 18% larger than a year earlier. In fact, the current crop is expected to be the largest on record. With this in mind, "va-riosity" can be the spice of life in your meals throughout the month.

How to Buy Meat For Your Freezer

"Can I save money by buying a side of beef for my freezer?" There is no clear-cut "yes" or "no" answer to this frequent consumer question. You'll have to know how much meat you will get from a side, the quality of the meat, charges for processing and freezing and costs of comparable retail cuts.

If you're considering buying a side of beef, it's important to know that weights quoted are usually "hanging" weights—that is, the weight before cutting, trimming and boning. The cutting loss—the excess bone and fat that's thrown away—can vary from 20 to 30%, or even more. For example, if you buy a 300-pound side of beef and the cutting loss is 25%, you would end up with only 225 pounds of usable meat cuts.

Most people would not want to freeze large quantities of low-quality beef cuts. These cuts do not offer as much eating satisfaction and therefore may not justify the expense of freezing them and holding them in the freezer.

Before buying carcass beef, make sure you are dealing with a reputable establishment. If you're not sure, check with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce. Although most meat dealers are honest, there are always a few who will take advantage of the consumer who is buying an unfamiliar product such as beef in carcass form.

As an alternative to buying a side or quarter of beef, you might want to consider buying wholesale cuts, such as a rib (which will give you just rib roasts, steaks and some lean trim) or a short loin (from which you'll get porterhouse, T-bone and club steaks). Or you might consider simply buying the retail cuts you like most when your local store has them on sale. Many consumers have found this the most practical method of all—and sometimes during the last half hour of cooking time.

Follow the manufacturer's directions for rotisserie temperature setting and roast until done. A 3- to 5-pound boneless turkey roast will require from 2 to 2½ hours to cook.

Boneless turkey roll will need little or no watching as it bastes itself while rotating on the spit.

Answers to questions asked recently follow:

Q. How can a disabled young man my age—26—collect social security benefits? Don't you need years and years of work covered by social security to get payments?

A. No. A special provision of the social security law applies in the case of a young worker who becomes disabled before he is 31. He needs social security credit for only about half the time between age 21 and his age when he becomes disabled. If a man 26 years old becomes disabled, he would need only about 2½ years work under social security to be eligible for cash benefits.

Q. My nephew is only 21 years old but is disabled and cannot work because of wounds he received in Vietnam. He was in the Army 3 years. Can he get social security disability benefits?

A. Very probably. Active service in the Armed Forces is covered under social security. Since your nephew is only 21 he would need credit for only 1½ years work under social security. If he is so severely disabled that he is unable to work, he may be eligible for benefits.

Q. I am a bachelor and will be 65 in July. I have no social security credits. Will I be eligible for Medicare?

A. You will be eligible to enroll in the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of Medicare, but you will not be eligible for the basic hospital insurance. The hospital insurance part of the Medicare program is financed out of social security tax contributions and people who reach 65 after 1957 need credit for a certain amount of work covered under social security to have the hospital insurance. A person 65 this year needs credit for 6 calendar quarters of work—about 1½ years—to be eligible for hospital insurance.

3 Pounds of Refuse Here Daily Per Person

(Fourth of a Series)

Outside of the limited data derived from weighing refuse trucks at selected sites, there are no completely reliable means of determining the exact quantities of refuse produced in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

Horner & Shifrin, consulting engineers, report that the best measure of the daily loading of a refuse disposal site or facility is in tons of raw refuse per day or other units of time.

However, the only significant method of refuse disposal in the three counties presently is landfill, and the prevailing basis for disposal fees is truck volume, not weight.

Variable Density

The density of mixed raw refuse is highly variable. As a result, the volumetric measurement is not considered to be much more than a rough gauge of quantity. An accurate method of determining the daily or weekly quantities of refuse therefore is not available.

Per capita quantity of refuse collected has been found to be substantially different in different cities. The American Public Works Association has found per capita collected refuse per year and day of 1638 and 4.36 pounds in Washington, D. C., 1438 and 3.84 in Garden City, N. Y., 1430 and 3.92 in Hartford, Conn., 1370 and 3.75 in Omaha, Neb., 1325 and 3.63 in New York, N. Y., and 1103 and 3.03 in Cincinnati, O.

Despite the wide variance per day, all these cities have climatic conditions comparable to those in this metropolitan area. A 1963-64 study for St. Louis county showed the average refuse collection to be 3.10 pounds per day.

Refuse deposited at the city of St. Louis incinerators over the past six years show a daily per capita range from 1.85 to 2.63 pounds.

400 Tons in County Daily Limited data derived from truck weighings within the three counties permits another approach toward determining per capita collections.

The two locations at which the portable scale was installed in Madison county indicated that during a normal five-day work week, the total refuse from Madison county and deposited at the two sites averaged 182 tons a day at the Mal landfill in Chouteau township and 52 tons a day at the Alton landfill.

Refuse from this county deposited at other sites, both within and outside the county, is estimated at 166 tons a day, for a total of 400 tons a day.

Considering the extensive rural character of the eastern part of Madison county, it is probable that much of the total refuse produced is disposed of by individuals on their own property, by backyard burning, by burial and at sites unknown to the authorities. This latter unknown quantity may be as much as 20% to 25% of the total produced.

Assuming a grand total of 500 tons a day on a five-day-work basis, the present average daily quantity of refuse collected would be about 390 tons a day or about 2.65 pounds per capita.

Most in July, August. Uncertainties involved in estimating refuse collections force the use of some factor of safety. The figure of 3.1 pounds as found to apply to St. Louis county appears to be reasonable for the three counties, the Horner & Shifrin firm believes.

Seasonal variations, based on St. Louis city statistics, show that in total 111% of the monthly average in a typical year, August, 122% and February 78%.

The projection that has been selected assumes a peak month to be 120% and a peak day 150% of the daily average for the year.

Per capita collection from rural areas in eastern Madison county, eastern and southern St. Clair county and southern Monroe county could average 25% to 50% less than in adjacent urban communities. This is due to the lack of industry, the practice of many residents of disposing of refuse on their own properties, and the difficulty of effecting organized collection and disposal facilities.

Looking to the Future There are few reliable projections regarding the future. Per capita production has increased during recent decades.

Whether there will be further significant increases is a matter of conjecture because of changing patterns in packaging, changes in the composition of solid wastes and the effects of air pollution control regulations on refuse quantity.

Present day merchandising and packaging methods have resulted in far greater quantities of paper products to be disposed of than in past years. Although plastic materials are replacing paper in many uses, the total use of paper products still is increasing at 5% a year.

Alarms are beginning to be sounded by paper pulp processes with regard to conservation of paper stock, and it appears possible that industry controls could have the effect of reducing paper product waste materials, at least those discarded for disposal in public disposal facilities.

There is increasing emphasis on reclamation of reusable waste paper products. More may be reclaimed in the future before reaching public collection.

Furnace, Container Changes Use of natural gas for space heating has minimized production of ashes from households. Relatively few homes still use coal for heating.

The garbage component of refuse also appears to have reached a reasonable minimum. Some further reduction may occur as more household garbage disposers are installed in older homes.

Extensive use of pre-trimmed vegetables and processed frozen foods has resulted in food wastes becoming a low percentage of the total wastes.

Use of composite containers is on the increase, with a probable corresponding decrease in the proportion of tin cans in refuse. Aluminum cans also have replaced tin cans in many usages.

Disposable Bottles Disposable bottles have in many cases replaced returnable bottles. This has had some effect in increasing refuse quantity.

Some increase also is expected due to the spread of bans on backyard burning and the burning of leaves. Seasonal increases probably will occur when leaves are collected.

A St. Louis tabulation shows an increase in total refuse of about 1.5% a year over a period of years.

A study made in 1963 by a division of the U. S. Public Health Service projected that total per capita solid waste production, as a national average, would be 4.85 pounds per day by 1967 and 6.25 pounds by 1990. This would indicate a rise of about 1.25% a year.

Considering the conjectural nature of predictions of refuse production, the potential effects of changes in the kinds of refuse used, and the limited data on which future projections can be based, the consulting engineers believe that no more than a compounded increase of 1% per year should be assumed.

With this assumption, average per capita collections for Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties are listed at 3.10 pounds a

Farm-Stored Corn Not Hit by Change

"Producers with corn stored on farms under price-support loans are not affected by recent changes in the resale program. They can continue to keep the 1968 crop in their bins," Lee Rogers of the Madison county ASCS office said today.

"We did make a change in the warehouse-resale program, but producers should not let this confuse the picture. The warehouse announcement does not affect potential storage payments to producers of corn stored on their farm," Rogers continued.

Resale, the extension of price-support loans beyond the initial maturity date, was cancelled in late May on 1967 and 1968-crop corn in warehouses because of increased consumption of corn; the carryover next Oct. 1 is estimated to be down about 235 million bushels to 925 million.

"When you're talking about warehouse-stored corn, you are only talking about 15 percent of the total outstanding under loan. Actually, the $975 stored on farms—and still eligible for resale—makes up the bulk of corn in this category," Rogers explained.

He also pointed out that no change is being made in the previously announced continued resale of farm-stored 1964, 1965, 1966 and 1967 crops of corn, wheat and grain sorghum; the 1965, 1966 and 1967 barley and oats crops; and in the 1966 and 1967 soybean resale. In addition, he added, warehouse stored 1967 and 1968 crops of wheat, soybeans, barley, oats, and grain sorghum may be extended.

"Summing up," Rogers said, "we have a total of nearly two billion bushels of commodities still eligible for resale on the basis of outstanding loans at the end of April."

day in 1968, 3.23 pounds in 1972 and 3.86 pounds in 1990.

The estimated present 3.10 pounds is based on a 365-day year. If refuse is collected six days a week, this is 3.62 pounds a day; for a five-day week, it is 4.38 pounds per day.

A six-day basis is viewed as the most realistic for this area and is used in the remainder of the Horner & Shifrin report.

History of Savings And Loans is Related

Jerry Thompson of the Piasa Savings and Loan of Alton was the featured speaker at Tuesday's luncheon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club at the YMCA.

His topic was on the history of the savings and loan companies which date back to 1775 in Birmingham, England, where five men pooled their money for one to build a house.

The idea began in this country in 1831 in Franklin, Pa., with 37 citizens joining together to form a building and loan company. They were primarily interested in building homes as there was a shortage of rental property. Each paid a small initiation fee and membership dues each month to build up the capital in the company.

The first man to borrow $300 with $10 as interest to build a home was also the first man in the history of this country to have his property repossessed.

Thompson also stated, Illinois was the first state west of the Alleghenies to form such savings and loan programs.

As the idea grew, a league was formed in 1930 to begin a self policing for the betterment of the companies. Federal law now governs the rules of such organizations.

It was not until the 1930's that people began investing their money in a savings and loan as a savings program rather than to borrow just to build a home.

Carl Mathias, club president, conducted the business session with 30 members in attendance. He told the group the next meeting would be a club assembly when each committee chairman is to announce plans for the 1969-70 year.

Stronger Curfew Law is Approved By GC Council

With only minor comment, Granite City council members voted approval of amendments to strengthen the city curfew law.

The aldermen were quick to comment that a person under 18 years of age would not be picked up if enroute home from a teenager event of legitimate sponsorship, such as a YMCA or park district dance.

The law is aimed at teenagers loitering on the streets or just cruising around in autos and is based on the state curfew law, they stressed.

Police Chief Velzer noted that the city will be allocated fines paid by violators, rather than the fines going to state agencies. Under the amendments, the fines would range from $10 to $100 instead of $1 to $100.

The law stipulates—"It is unlawful for a person less than 18 years of age to be present at or upon any public assembly building, place, street, alley or other public place, unless accompanied and supervised by a parent, legal guardian or other responsible person of at least 21 years of age, approved by a parent or legal guardian, or unless engaged in a business or occupation which the laws of the state authorize a person less than 18 years of age to perform."

Between 12:01 a.m. and 6 a.m. Saturday, between 12:01 a.m. and 6 a.m. Sunday and between 11 p.m. on Sunday to Thursday, inclusive, and 6 a.m. on the following day.

Police are authorized to detain a minor violating the law until the parent or guardian takes the child into custody. Police are required to commu-

Three Cars Damaged As Motorist Swerves

Three cars were damaged at 6:30 p.m. Monday when the driver of a car southbound on Bede with street at McNair in Madison was forced to swerve into two parked cars to avoid striking two children on bicycles, Madison police reported.

Sherly Hays, 1911 Sken street, Madison, told officers she was turning right off Beck with into McNair when the bicyclists pulled in front of her. Her auto struck parked cars belonging to Jeanette Wilson, 2000 Beckwith street, and Nelly Nichol, 3013 Marsh street. The Hays' car was damaged in the left front, the Beckwith street car in the front and the Nichol car in the left front and right rear.

After receiving the Bronze Star, Breese was promoted to warrant officer and later attained Officers Candidate School, graduating as a second lieutenant. The father also served for two years in the Korean conflict.

Since retiring in 1963, the elder Breese has been employed at the golf course at the Granite City Army Depot.

Census Bureau Sets Employment Survey

A sample of residents in this area will be included in a nationwide survey of employment to be conducted during the week of July 13 by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census, according to Theodore F. Olson, director of the Bureau's regional office in Chicago.

The survey is made each month for the U.S. Department of Labor to determine the number of persons with jobs, the number looking for jobs, and the monthly unemployment rate. The survey furnishes a basic measure of the Nation's economic health.

Information obtained in the survey can be used only to determine statistical totals, and facts about each person and family are kept completely confidential.

Their terms will run from July 1, 1969, to June 30, 1972.

Appointments of three members for the board of trustees for the Granite City public library was presented to the council Monday night by Mayor Partney. All of the appointments were confirmed.

A new board member is Floyd Eaton, 2805 Oregon avenue, an American Steel Foundries employee who succeeds Vasil Efimtsov, a school district officer. Renamed to the board were Judge Fred P. Schuman and Mrs. Amos Rod.

Their terms will run from July 1, 1969, to June 30, 1972.

Father Gives Oath To Enlistee Son

A local retired Army captain, Joseph Breese of 2430 Angela drive, administered the Army oath to his son, Patrick William Breese, who enlisted in the Army.

Local Army recruiter, Sgt. Morris L. Cook, said the ceremony took place in the Mart building in St. Louis and that the younger Breese will be trained in stock control and accounting at Ft. Lee, Va., upon completion of basic training.

The father served in world war II as an enlisted man, reaching the rank of master sergeant. During that war, he received several decorations including the Bronze Star Medal for gallantry against the enemy.

Unemployment Benefits Increased over Years

Unemployment compensation benefits in Illinois have undergone considerable changes since the law became effective July 1, 1959, just over 30 years ago, according to Ray Peters, manager of the local Division of Unemployment Compensation.

The original minimum benefit paid was $7 per week, with the maximum set at $16 per week and the payment period was for 16 weeks.

The current minimum is $42 a week for individuals with no children and the maximum is $70 for a family with four or more children providing the wage earner made enough money during his base period. Claimants now can receive benefits for a period of 26 weeks.

Waiting periods also have decreased. During the first several years a three-week wait was required before payments began to assure that the applicant had tried to find a job. That period has been cut to one week.

Compensation claims are handled by the Division of Unemployment Compensation, while the Illinois State Employment Service, located in the same building, provides job placement. The office is at 21st and Iowa streets.

Youth Faces Charge of Arson in Firebombing

A charge of arson against Melvin Lee Bradley, 17, of 1131 Calhoun street, Venice, will be presented to the Madison county circuit court grand jury soon as the result of Bradley's arrest by police Monday.

Police said they are seeking another youth on a charge of arson to commit arson in connection with the same case. Venice police said the charge against Bradley and the youth still might grow out of the burning of a shed at the rear of the New Way Grocery, 1051 Douglas street, during several disorders by a group of Memphis Venice youths during the week of June 24.

Five firebombings occurred during the outbreaks and 33 persons were arrested the night of June 24 as the result of mob disturbances. Bradley was arraigned in magistrate court in Edwardsville following his arrest Monday and was released on his own recognizance pending grand jury action on the arson charge.

Mayor Names Nine Persons To Beautification Board

Nine commissioners for Granite City's Beautification Commission, established by Mayor Partney, were named by the mayor during Monday night's council session.

The mayor reported he has contacted several railroad workers in improvements to their right-of-ways and has noted weed cutting by track crews in Granite City. Also requested are improvements at rail crossings.

In another communication, the state highway department is being asked for compliance with state beautification standards that require "screens at junk yards. It has been determined that the auto salvage yard along Route 3 at the city animal shelter building.

Mayor Partney noted that while the yard is in the city limits, it is along a state route and that the highway department can require the construction of a screen or planting of shrubbery and trees to hide the junk autos from highway view.

The mayor was advised by officials of the GM&O and N&W Railroads that beautification steps would be taken. Named to the board by the mayor were: Mrs. Irene Haug, Mrs. Jew-

GC Council Oks MFT Projects For Five Streets

Use of motor tax funds for improvement to sections of five streets, including a $35,000 project for Nameoki drive, was given initial approval Monday night by Granite City council members.

The resolution seeking allocation of funds for the projects are subject to approval by the state highway department before bids can be sought.

Under the requests, Nameoki drive is to be improved with curbs and gutters and a bituminous surface for a 34-foot roadway and related drainage facilities from 25th street to Circle drive.

When Alderman Boker asked why the project was not extended for all of Nameoki drive to Route 3 at the A. O. Smith Corp. plant, he was advised by Alderman Robertson that there were not sufficient funds.

Council members already have committed $160,000 MFT funds for further improvement of Johnson road, and owe the state a share of the south improvement project for Nameoki road.

Other streets approved by the council for MFT improvement were Warren avenue from Faith to St. Clair avenue at a cost of $10,000, and Buxton avenue from Victory drive to St. Clair avenue, also to cost $10,000. Both projects are to include 34-foot bituminous surfaces and curbs and gutters.

Another proposed MFT project is for sections of two streets—Oakland avenue from Rode avenue to Braden avenue and Melrose avenue from Pontoon road to the north city limits. The work was estimated at $15,000 for curbs and gutters and a bituminous surface.

Application is being made to the state highway department for sections of 11 streets to be added to the arterial street system for future improvement with motor fuel tax funds.

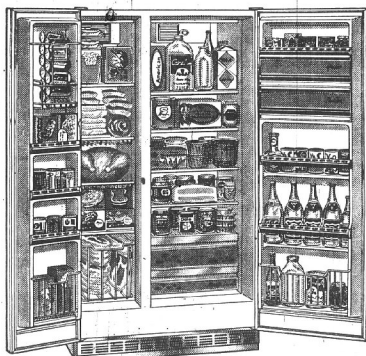

Included are Primrose avenue from Clark avenue to Pontoon road, and the following streets from Primrose to Franklin avenue—A m o s, Manly, Richmond, Garfield, Cottage, Lindell and Clark avenues.

Offuse avenue from Leonard avenue from Marshall avenue to Dogwood drive; Faith avenue from Warren avenue to Dogwood and Dogwood drive from Leonard to Faith avenue.

Subject: Complaints! Complaints! Complaints!

So many good people have COMPLAINED to the GRANITE CITY BOARD OF REALTORS, concerning their deals with other real estate operators that we felt compelled to give them a public answer.

Although we REALTORS sincerely sympathize with you, because we too are in the REAL ESTATE BUSINESS, our answer must be, "sorry, we can't help you, nobody can. You are strictly on your own." (NOTE: THE GRANITE CITY BOARD OF REALTORS have jurisdiction only over "REALTORS", members of the Local, State and National REAL ESTATE BOARDS OF AMERICA.) ALL REALTORS must subscribe to a strict code of PROFESSIONAL ETHICS similar to Doctors, Lawyers and other professional men of high community standing. Should you have a COMPLAINT against a REALTOR (and please remember this, just any real estate man is not a "REALTOR", and a "REALTOR" is not just any REAL ESTATE MAN) you can get justice, and immediately. The offender is brought before the Grievance Board for a hearing and he may be reprimanded, fined or completely expelled from the BOARD. (NOTE: Past records show one member heavily fined and two expelled for unethical practices against the general public. So we suggest you "CALL A REALTOR", a man of honor and know-how. A man with great respect for the PROFESSION OF REAL ESTATE. A full-time professional who really cares about you and the public trust, and a man who will quickly solve your COMPLAINT problems.

Sincerely yours,

THE GRANITE CITY BOARD OF REALTORS

Young Piano Virtuoso To Play at Festival

Van Cliburn, popular young pianist, will play with the St. Louis Symphony tomorrow at the Festival of the Mississippi River Festival. Both concerts will begin at 8:30 p.m. at the Festival site on Southwestern University - Southwestern campus.

While reserved seat tickets are already very limited for both Friday and Saturday performances, there will be room for more than 10,000 people on the lawn outside the Festival tent.

Persons on the lawn can hear as well as those in the tent, thanks to the festival's unique sound reinforcement system. The architectural design of the giant tent also allows unobstructed view of the stage from the lawn area.

In the Quad-Cities, reserved seats and general admission tickets are available at Reese Tri Cor Pharmacy, 21st street and Madison avenue, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Wednesday and Saturday.

Seating for 1985 patrons inside the tent ranges in price from $2.50 to $5.50, with outdoor seating at $1.50 for adults and $1 for children. Coupons purchased in book-form at considerable savings from Quad-City banks, may be exchanged at the Tri Cor box office window for individual or group seating at all performances.

Tickets also are on sale at St. Louis area department stores; the Festival box office at SIU-SW, open from 10 a.m. through showtime on all concert dates; and at Powell Symphony Hall in St. Louis.

Returns a Hero
In 1958, Van Cliburn returned from winning the Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow, a hero to all America. He was a recorded Manhattan's first ticket-tape parade for a musician, congratulated in person by the late President Eisenhower, given a testimonial luncheon by the famous and near-famous of New York City, and whenever he appeared in concert or merely walked across the street, huge crowds gathered. His recordings began to sell in incredible numbers.

Born in Shreveport, La., Van Cliburn moved to Kilgore, Texas, in the early morning hours in deference to his neighbors. Friday and Saturday's concert, both starting at 8:30 p.m., includes Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 3 and Tippet Concerto for Double String Orchestra. On Friday evening, Mozart's Symphony No. 36 "Linz" will be played and the following night, Mozart's Symphony No. 39.

The 7:30 concert Sunday evening will be the St. Louis Symphony's only instruction, including Academic Festival Overture; Variations on a Study with Theme by Haydn, and Symphony No. 2.

Dear Jackie:

We were thinking of putting rubber backed indoor-outdoor carpeting in our family room. Our problem is that we may move in six or seven months and we would want to take it with us. Can we do this?

HOPEFULLY
Granite City, Illinois

Dear Hope:

Yes, you can! Rather than have it glued onto your floor, have it installed with double faced tape. This will hold it just as well and when you move, just pull it up (carefully) and take it to your new home, have it reinstalled and you're all set.

Dear Jackie:

I've heard so much about "501" Nylon, how durable it is and everything. My question is, how expensive is it?

ON A BUDGET
Madison, Illinois

Dear Budget:

Right now it's not expensive at all! We have a sale on "501" Nylon at Atkins Floor Covering. It was $4.98 a square yard and is now sale priced at only $3.49 a square yard. Come on out to 17 Meadowlark Ct. and visit our showroom, or just call 877-2058 and we'll bring the samples right out to your home!

Dear Jackie:

Last Sunday night during the storm we had quite a bit of water damage to our carpeting. It wasn't what you would call new, but it was clean and serviceable. Is there any way for us to save it or salvage something out of it?

SOAKING WET
Granite City

Dear Soaking:

Your carpet should probably be taken up to dry, then we can measure it to see if it still fits. The jute backing on it will shrink quite a bit but we may be able to stretch it a little. If it just won't fit, all is not lost. We will offer you a fair price per square yard for your old carpet depending on its condition and install new carpeting to your home. You choose the style, color and of course, price range.

If you have floor covering problems write to, "Dear Jackie" C/O Atkins Floor Covering, 17 Meadowlark Ct., Granite City, Illinois. Phone 877-2058.

If you have problems finding 17 Meadowlark Ct. just follow this map!

Vandal Damages Auto

The 1969 model auto of Nellie Dierker, 2015 Illinois avenue, was damaged Monday night by a vandal who apparently used a rock to pound dents in the hood, Madison police reported. The car was parked in the 1100 block of Greenwood street when the damage occurred.

VAN CLIBURN
Pianist

The boy played first in public at the age of four at Shreveport's Dodd College. By the time he was six, it was obvious he was destined for a concert career.

At the age of 12, as winner of a state-wide young pianist's competition, he made his orchestral debut with the Houston Symphony. The following year he made his Carnegie Hall debut as winner of the National Music Festival Award. By then he had already reached his six-foot-four height.

He was to win many musical accolades and prizes before his history-making journey to Moscow. His most important victory came in 1954 when he won the Edgar M. Leventritt Foundation Award. Although held annually, this award is not granted unless the judges feel there is a worthy recipient. When Van Cliburn received the award, it had not been granted for five years.

Even though he was well-known to the American music world when he went to Moscow in 1958, Van Cliburn was almost unknown to the great public. When front page stories of the hysterical acclaim by the Russians began to appear, the Cliburn legend was born overnight in the public mind.

He has many recordings for RCA Victor to his credit. When not touring or recording, the young pianist lives in a small apartment near Manhattan's Carnegie Hall. He likes to practice from midnight onwards, as well as most of the day, but returns in the early morning hours in deference to his neighbors.

Friday and Saturday's concert, both starting at 8:30 p.m., includes Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 3 and Tippet Concerto for Double String Orchestra. On Friday evening, Mozart's Symphony No. 36 "Linz" will be played and the following night, Mozart's Symphony No. 39.

The 7:30 concert Sunday evening will be the St. Louis Symphony's only instruction, including Academic Festival Overture; Variations on a Study with Theme by Haydn, and Symphony No. 2.

Gas Outages Add to Power Company's Storm Problems

Illinois Power Co. crews were kept busy following last week's storm restoring service to homes where lines were broken by falling tree limbs. A company spokesman said that in addition the company had the unusual experience of about 35 "outages" of gas services in Madison when water seeped into a gas main and cut off the flow of gas.

From 700 to 800 power disruptions were reported as a result of the storm, all of them on individual lines, the company reported. No complete circuits were knocked out anywhere in the area, it was said. The disruption in gas services occurred along a line that maintains only 12 pounds of inside pressure and therefore failed to keep out the water when a leak developed, it was explained. Considerable work was entailed in restoring service to the homes since the lines leading into the homes, as well as the main line, had to be disconnected and blown clean. The last of the services was restored by Tuesday evening, the spokesman said.

Disconnect Transformers

Power company workers went into the State Park Place area—one of the heaviest hit sections by heat and disconnected some transformers Monday night when the water rose in some places to such high levels that it appeared possible that the transformers possibly could be touched by someone in a boat.

Only a few calls were received from persons asking that their gas or power be cut off because of water in the basement, the spokesman said, explaining that most meters are about six feet above floor level and that the water did not reach this high except in a few rare instances. Water reaching pilot lights in furnaces or hot water heaters automatically shuts off the gas line, it was explained. As cleanup work continued Tuesday, however, the company received a large number of calls asking that pilot lights be re-lighted in basement units.
